Walter Silas Powell and his German shepherd:

At one point, Silas Powell was selling washing machines. The Clemens family, at one point, had a female German shepherd that had a large litter of pups. The Clemens family agreed that they would buy a washing machine if the Powell family would buy a German shepherd pup. It was agreed--the purchase price of the dog being deducted from the purchase price of the washing machine. Some time later, Walter Silas Powell sold the German shepherd dog and bought a bicycle.

WSP vaccinated against bivalent influenza (Swine Flu): Nov. 28, 1976

WSP (11-25-76): "I don't think I'd go to New York City to see King Tut walk down the street again."

WSP (5/22/77): "Blackberries in bloom. It's time to plant cucumbers."

WSP and SRP in the jeep on the Whitmore Road (07-22-78)

SRP: "How do you pronounce that name [SRP pointed to the name Grzech on a mailbox]?

WSP: " [5-second pause] Smith. As long as you're working here your name is Smith."

Walter S. Powell (1913-1994), grandson of the Welsh bard Athenydd, graduated from Olyphant High School on June 19, 1930, and furthered his education at the Wharton School of Finance. His entrepreneurial gift and leadership skills resulted in his creating and managing, together with his wife, Helen Loomis Russell, not only the prosperous family farm, Riverside, in Fell Township, but also the Lakeland Golf Course at Lake Sheridan and the Homestead Golf Course on the James and Margaret Russell Homestead in Fell Township. He loved the outdoors and was an enthusiastic hunter, fisherman, and ornithologist. Following his retirement, community service interested him a great deal and he served for many years as a driver for the Carbondale Meals-on-Wheels program.

Mayfield High School class of 1924. Mayfield was originally called Glenwood, after the Glenwood Coal Company, and was incorporated as a borough under that name on November 7, 1881. Thomas Green was elected the first burgess and M. G. Neary was named the first postmaster. Two prominent early citizens were Stephen Whitmore and William Walker. The first school building was erected in 1885 and the school directors were Thomas McGouldrick, Thomas Grier, Thomas Brennan, James Sullivan, D. G. Williams, and M. G. Neary. On October 18, 1888, the community was renamed the Borough of Mayville, in honor of Captain William A. May, who managed the Hillside Coal and Iron Company's operation there. In 1891, the community was re-named the Borough of Mayfield.

REMEMBER ME

To the living, I am gone.
To the sorrowful, I will never return.
To the angry, I was cheated.
But to the happy, I am at peace.
And to the faithful, I have never left.
I cannot speak, but I can listen.
I cannot be seen, but I can be heard.
So as you stand upon this golf course,
Gazing at the scenery and a beautiful tree,
REMEMBER ME
As you look upon a flower and admire its simplicity, REMEMBER ME.

REMEMBER ME in your hearts,
your thoughts and your memories
of the times we loved,
the times we cried, the times we fought,
the times we laughed.
For if you always think of me,
I WILL NEVER HAVE GONE.

Dedicated in memory of:
John Morgan and
Walter Powell

And they are only three out of many people from New York, Philadelphia and points in Maryland who were in our part of Northeastern Pennsylvania last weekend for skiing and tobogganing. This picture was taken at Homestead Toboggan ru of Walter Powell near Finch Hill. Skiing Mecca is Elk Mountain. Motels, hotels and eating places near winter sports spots have been very busy. Walter S. Powell (1913-1994), grandson of the Welsh bard Athenydd, graduated from Olyphant High School on June 19, 1930, and furthered his education at the Wharton School of Finance. His entrepreneurial gift and leadership skills resulted in his creating and managing, together with his wife, Helen Loomis Russell, not only the prosperous family farm, Riverside, in Fell Township, but also the Lakeland Golf Course at Lake Sheridan and the Homestead Golf Course on the James and Margaret Russell Homestead in Fell Township. He loved the outdoors and was an enthusiastic hunter, fisherman, and ornithologist. Following his retirement, community service interested him a great deal and he served for many years as a driver for the Carbondale Meals-on-Wheels program.

The first school building was erected in 1885 and the school directors were Thomas McGouldrick, Thomas Grier, Thomas Brennan, James Sullivan, D. G. Williams, and M. G. Neary. On October 18, 1888, the community was renamed the Borough of Mayville, in honor of Captain William A. May, who managed the Hillside Coal and Iron Company's operation there. In 1891, the community was re-named the Borough of Mayfield.

On April 8, 1977, Walter Silas Powell dictated (in response to a question asked by SRP) the following list of trees and shrubs that have been planted at The Homestead Golf Course:

3. hydrangea--purple

Walsh-Cerra win Orazzi's golf title

Bob Walsh and Joe Cerra captured the All-Season Championship of Orazzi's Golf League on Sunday, Sept. 13, at the Homestead Golf Course.

They won over the team of Harry Larson and Bob Fallon.

The match was closely contested with the outcome of victory decided on the final hole. The long drives of Larson and the fine putting of Fallon, along with the steady play of Walsh and Cerra, made an interesting match throughout the nine holes.

A special golf tournament was held under the direction of Dave Brister assisted by Bob Doohaluk. John Falvo was the first flight winner with Pete Cunningham, runner-up.

Jim Hicks was the second flight winner with Dave Brister, runner-up. The third flight was won by Mario Genevese with Fred Strenk, runner-up.

The closest to the pin contests were won by John Falvo on the No. 3 hole and by Bob Doohaluk on the No. 5 hole.

An awards banquet was held in the evening at Orazzi's Restaurant. Trophies were awarded to the champions — Walsh and Cerra and to the runners-up Larson and Fallon.

Prizes were awarded to all flight winners and also to the special contests winners.

All league members express their thanks to Danny and Dorothy Orazzi for their generosity and to Walter and Helen Powell for their hospitality throughout the season.

Dear Mr. Ammerman:

I have been reading with great interest the pieces on bluebirds that have been published in The Wayne Independent in the past month:

"Audubon Society wants to bring bluebirds back to Northeast"
Thursday, March 4, 1982, page 11;

"Audubon wants to bring bluebirds back to NE Penna."
Thursday, March 11, 1982, page 2;

"Audubon Society to sponsor sixth grade art contest on bluebirds"
Thursday, March 18, 1982, page 7;

"Bluebird nesting promoted last 5 years by PP&L Co."
Tuesday, March 23, 1982, page 15;

"Announce winners in Audubon Society's bluebird contest"
Thursday, March 25, 1982, page 3.

You may be interested to know that on the morning of March 17th, as I walked up the main entrance hill to Merli Sarnowski Park, Fell Township, Lackawanna County, that I spotted a flock of twenty-five bluebirds.

In recent years, bluebirds, in fact, have been regularly spotted in Fell Township. On the Homestead Golf Course, three pairs of bluebirds nested and successfully raised their young (two of those pairs raised two broods of young) in 1980; in 1981, two pairs of bluebirds fledged their young. There are at present thirty-five bluebird houses, that I have built and erected, on the Homestead Golf Course. They have all been cleaned out recently, and are ready for the bluebirds. With any luck, we will have as many nesting pairs this year as we had last year.

Yours truly,

Audubon Society wants to bring bluebirds back to Northeast

The Wayne-Pike Audubon Society is holding a campaign during the Month of March titled "Let's Bring Back the Bluebirds to Northeastern Pennsylvania."

The Eastern Bluebird is one of our most beneficial songbirds and was common to the area a generation or so ago. Today many residents say, 'I have never even seen a bluebird."

The species is rapidly disappearing because its natural nesting sites are becoming increasingly scarce and those that do exist are being occupied by house sparrows or starlings; introduced species with which the bluebird finds it hard to compete.

The society plans to help them with its campaign. They will be placing for sale scientifically designed bluebird nesting boxes, with complete instructions for placement, at various merchants throughout the region. The following merchants have given their cooperation in selling the boxes in their stores beginning March 1: Narrowsburg Lumber Co., Honesdale; Narrowsburg Lumber at Lords Valley, Agway in Honesdale, Agway in Lake Ariel, Drake's Hardware in Hawley, the Sportsman's Rendezvous in Milford, Reddon's Drug Store in Susquehanna, Reddon's Drug Store in Halstead, and the Starlight Inn in Starlight.

On March 12 Voni Strasser, Mary Palmer, and Dick Laabs will be on Tom Shepstone's radio show at 9:30 a.m. over WDNH and will discuss the reasons for wanting the bluebirds in our area, how to encourage them to come and stay, and the placement and care of the boxes. There will also be a listener call-in period.

The Wayne-Pike Audubon Society will hold its first meeting of the year with a program devoted to the bluebird theme. It will be held at the Wallenpaupack Area High School auditorium March 25 at 8 p.m. Beautiful color slides, loaned by the North American Bluebird Society, will be shown, and a question and answer period will be held. Free material will be available and some of the nesting boxes will be for sale.

The Wayne Independent — March 11 - 1982 - p. 2

Audubon wants to bring bluebirds back to NE Penna.

Since Colonial times the bluebird has been a symbol of hope and happiness and has been one of the most popular and beneficial song birds.

Their population has been reduced as much as 60 to 90 percent in the past few years, especially after the devastating winters of 1976, 1977 and 1978. In spring, as a migratory bird returning to its northern nesting areas, the bluebirds often have died by the thousands because of severe cold weather sweeping through the northern states in March and April.

Another problem in the south between 1947 and 1954 was the use of uncovered smoke stacks in tobacco curing barns. The birds would seek shelter in the stacks, and when the heaters were turned on, they perished. Over two million were shoveled up during these years until conservationists were able to bring this problem to the attention of farmers.

Perhaps the worst problem is the loss of habitat for the birds. They are cavity nesting birds and depend on trees and old fence posts for their homes. With the increased use of firewood and the widespread use of the chain saw, fewer dead trees have been left standing and the bluebirds have to compete for these natural cavities with the aggressive imported English sparrow and starling.

There is no way to reverse this alarming trend. Man can help this beneficial member of the thrush family by providing properly made nesting boxes. The bluebirds' diet consists mainly of grasshoppers, crickets, beetles, sowbugs, flies, snails, and caterpillars.

The Wayne-Pike Audubon Society is conducting a campaign during the month of March entitled, "Let's Bring Back the Bluebirds to NE Pa." Boxes, scientifically designed to attract the birds, are for sale with the following merchants who have given their support to this campaign: Narrowsburg Lumber in Honesdale and Lords Valley; Sportsman's Rendezvous in Milford; Drake's Hardware in Hawley; Agway in Honesdale and Lake Ariel; Gumble's Brothers in Newfoundland and Paupack; Reddon's Drug Store in Halstead and Susquehanna; and The Starlight Inn in Starlight. Sale ends March 31.

Voni Strasser, Mary Palmer and Dick Laabs, who all maintain Bluebird Trails, will be on Tom Shepstone's Friday morning radio show over WDNH at 9:30 a.m. on March 12. They will talk about bluebirds and the campaign and will have a question and answer period for listeners.

Audubon Society to sponsor sixth grade art contest on bluebirds

The Wayne-Pike Audubon Society is sponsoring an art contest in the sixth grade level throughout the area. The theme is: "Let's Bring Back the Bluebirds to N.E. Pa.

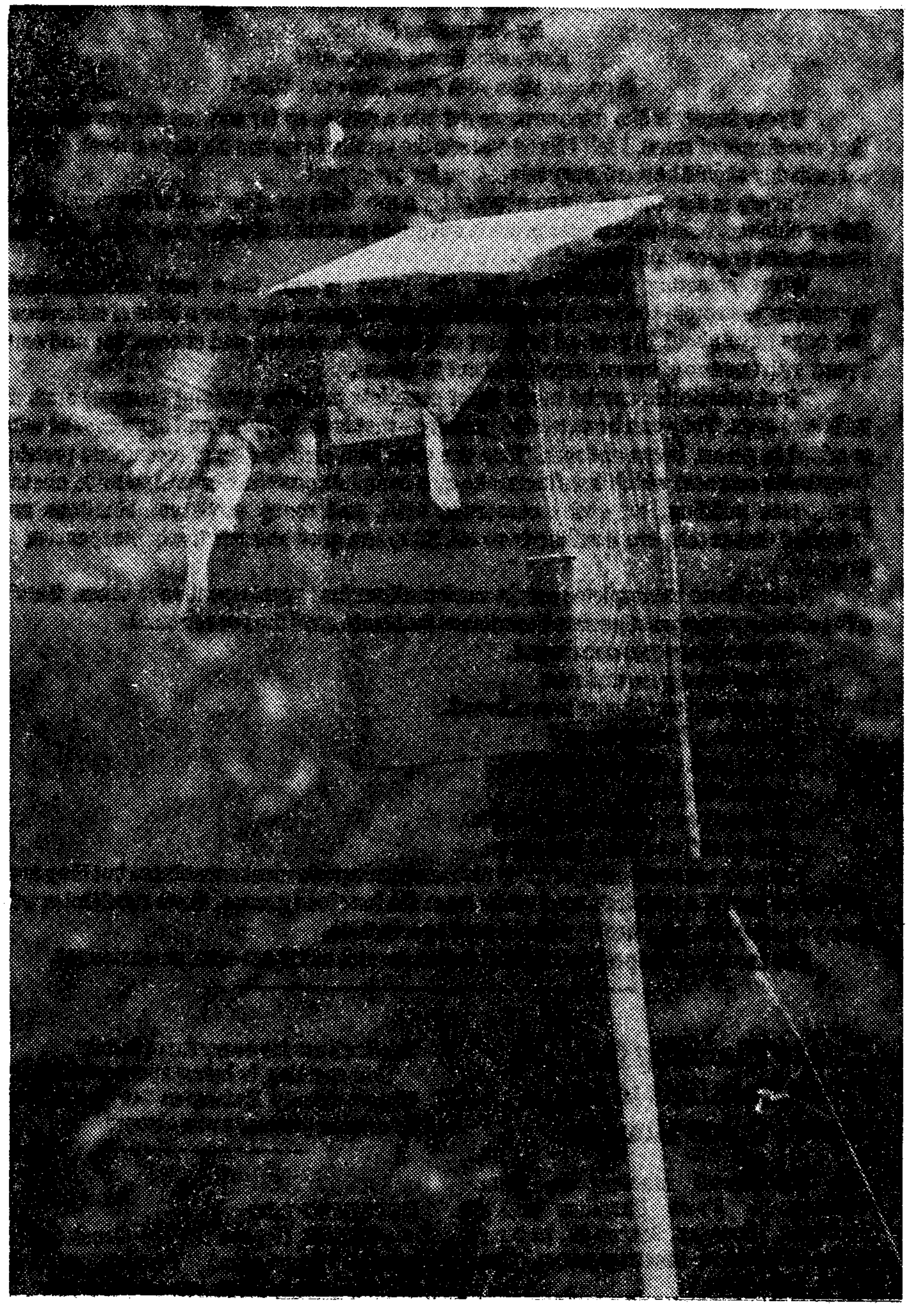

Schools participating are: Damascus, Preston, Wayne Highlands Middle School, and the four elementary schools of Western Wayne.

The contest chairman is Mrs. Elizabeth Hubbard, Honesdale. The judges are: Fredrick Brenner, professor at the Parson's Art Institute in New York City and renowned wildlife artist and illustrator; Mrs. Barbara Brenner, famous writer of children's books of nature and the environment; and Mrs. Voni Strasser, a director of the Wayne-Pike Audubon Society.

The winners and their pictures will be presented at the March 25 meeting of the society in the Wallenpaupack High School Auditorium. First prize will be membership in the National Audubon Society and a bluebird box. Second prize will be a bluebird box, and 4-5-6th prizes will be books on nature and the environment.

Bluebird nesting promoted last 5 years by PP&L Co.

A bluebird is shown by Ben Lefever, Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. Holtwood property and recreation aide.

Spring officially began March 20, bringing welcome relief from what some say was the most severe winter on record in central eastern Pennsylvania.

One sign that spring has arrived is the familiar sound of birds singing. For many years, however, one bird's voice was heard only rarely in southern Lancaster County.

The eastern bluebird, a small creature named for its blue wings, back and tail, was once a common sight throughout the area. But lack of natural nesting areas — particularly tree cavities — and competition from other birds for those few nesting spots have caused an alarming decline in the bluebird population.

For the last five years, though, the bluebird has been increasing in number — in large part because of the role two electric utilitites have played in helping one of America's best-loved birds make its comeback.

Philadelphia Electric Co. and Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. have developed nesting programs at their facilities in the lower portion of the county.

PE initiated its program in 1977 at its Muddy Run Recreation Park in Holtwood. The same year, PP&L installed its first nesting boxes east of its Holtwood power plant.

Today, both companies boast bluebird nesting trails. Simple wooden boxes fastened to the top of short poles are placed along the trails about 100 yards apart. This ensures each bluebird family adequate nesting privacy.

Through 1981, PP&L's Holtwood program has "fledged," or raised, 192 bluebirds in 23 nesting boxes.

Birds also have been fledged at PP&L's Montour Preserve near the company's power plant in Washingtonville, Montour County. Nesting boxes were installed last year at Susquehanna Riverlands, a nature area near PP&L's Susquehanna nuclear plant under construction outside Berwick, Luzerne County.

PE has fledged 301 new birds in 60 boxes at Muddy Run. The company offers workshops and nature walks to promote conservation efforts with the hope that more people will become interested in building bluebird boxes.

Why have two utilities with adjacent properties worked to bring about a return of a healthy bluebird population in southern Lancaster County?

"We believe in helping the wildlife on the land we own," says Mark Arbogast, PP&L coordinator of recreation projects. "The Holtwood area was recognized as a good place for bluebirds to thrive and we're happy we've been able to develop it."

Arbogast says the nesting program is a good example of how utilities can assume a responsible land stewardship role at a relatively low cost. For example, he says, nesting boxes cost less than $10 each to build.

"We have the right habitat for bluebirds here," says Dave Ellenberg, Muddy Run superintendent. "We have the open fields and grasslands the bluebird needs.

"The program here had exceeded our expectations, partly because we underestimated the success of the nesting boxes in attracting the bluebirds, and also because PE has made such a serious commitment to helping the bluebird."

Ellenberg says PE, in addition to offering bluebird programs at Muddy Run, last year promoted the program at the Philadelphia Flower Show. The company's message apparently has been heard.

"People call us to say they've seen bluebirds in their backyards for the first time in years," says Ellenberg, "and they want to know how to get them to nest."

Getting individuals interested in building boxes is important, both Arbogast and Ellenberg say, because natural nesting cavities are scarce throughout the East. The bluebird is important not only because of its popularity in American folklore and literature, but also because it helps control insects.

This year, PE will install about 15 more boxes and PP&L about five.

And, after such a cold winter, how healthy are the bluebird populations at Holtwood and Muddy Run, where the climate usually allows the birds to spend the winter?

Both Arbogast and Ellenberg say that as early as the first week in March — as they were checking the nesting trails — they spotted males flying up to the boxes and beginning their mating calls.

Severe cold is not as much a problem as an ice storm that covers the bluebird's food supply for a number of days, says Ellenberg.

PE and PP&L have proved that man can work to improve his habitat," says Arbogast, "by providing the bluebird with a refuge similar to the natural type that has become so scarce."

Severe cold is not as much a problem as an ice storm that covers the bluebird's food supply for a number of days, says Ellenberg.

PE and PP&L have proved that man can work to improve his habitat," says Arbogast, "by providing the bluebird with a refuge similar to the natural type that has become so scarce."

WSP talks about MASONS

November 17, 1986

The topic came up with regard to the sale of the Whitmore Pasture to Carbondale General Hospital. The sale didn't come off. WSP said it would have if it weren't for Garfield Thomas.

WSP said Garfield Thomas was a Mason and then went on about the Masons.

WSP said that I was a Mason and that the Masons used to be - and he supposed still are - a good organization, but there are some unreputable people who belong.

WSP said his father was a Mason and he shouldn't have been because "he didn't have the character" to be one. WSP said that George Hughes was a Mason and he was all the time trying to get WSP to become one. WSP mentioned a guy who helped install windows and doors at Lakeland who was a Mason. The guy was much-respected by George because he (the guy) was a Mason. WSP said he came to work at 10 AM and left at 3 PM and put down that he worked an 8 hour day, and WSP said that he was a slow worker.

GENERATIONS GATHER

The Scranton Times, 1897--There was a remarkable gathering recently at the home of Mrs. Adelbert Slote of Electric Avenue. Five generations were present. The oldest was Isaac Depew of Elmhurst, who will be 90 years of age the 4th of Dec. Next was his daughter, Mrs. Samantha Watrous of Hollisterville, then came his granddaughter, Mrs. J. J. Buckingham of Larch Street together with her daughter, Mrs. Slote, and her daughter, Miss Ruth Slote, completing the five generations.

Isaac Depew, who was born in Providence Township, has spent the entire 90 years of his life within 10 miles of his birth place. He has been spending a couple of weeks with his granddaughter, Mrs. Buckingham. His eyesight is still excellent, as he read two books through this past week, one containing 400 pages, the other over 200. His memory of dates and occurrences nearly a century ago is something remarkable.

In conversation with a Times representative, he informed him that in 1825, or 72 years ago, his brother, Abraham Depew, took the contract from a man named Wurts to clear the ground where Carbondale now stands.

There were only two log shanties in that vicinity, one occupied by Thomas Young, the other a double boarding house. Mr. Depew, then 18 years old, and a man named Jacob Coon were employed for some time in clearing off the virgin timber.

Mr. Depew was the most famous deer slayer in this whole section, and numbers his quests of the chase by the score. To look at him, no one would imagine he was more than 60 years of age. In 1833 he married Mehitible Dunning, and shortly after moved out into "Drinker's Beech," where he at present resides with his daughter, Mrs. Kate Catterson, near Elmhurst, formerly Dunnings, Pa.

• ISAAC DEPEW

The Scranton Times, 1897-Recently we published an interview with Isaac Depew, the man who cleared the ground where Carbondale now stands. It will be remembered that he is now a nonagenarian, yet reads every day from his testament. It is a remarkable fact that in all these ninety years Mr. Depew has never lived farther than seven miles in a direct line from his birthplace in Dunmore. For over half a century, he has resided in Dunnings, now Elmhurst, and during most of that time has filled some office in Madison and later Roaring Brook Township, which adjoined the line of old Providence Township.

The other day "Uncle Ikey," as he is familiarly known, was at his granddaughter's, Mrs. J. J. Buckingham of Larch Street, when a Times reporter called and asked him for a story about his boyhood days in the vicinity.

"I guess I will tell you about one time that I went fishing," he replied. "You see, there didn't use to be any road up through the Big Hollow at Nay Aug, into Drinker's Beech. No one had ever been known to go through, unless it had been an Indian, and they were all gone before my time. So, when George Krotzer and my younger brother, Jacob, and myself wanted to go fishing in Roaring Brook one day in May, 1822, we had to climb pretty near to the top of the Cobb Mountain to get around the blockade. Nearly at the summit was the "Indian spring," which was surrounded by large trees, on which were carved many names and initials.

"When we boys asked whose names they were, old people like Uncle John Carey and Joshua Griffin used to tell us they were cut by settlers fleeing from the Wyoming massacre, who stopped to rest at this spring on their way out East, and it then was called the Indian Spring. The Pennsylvania Coal Company, after they built No. 11 plane, walled it up, and I think it still exists today. At the time I speak of, it was only about a foot each way.

"Well, after we got a rest at the spring, we went down the other side of the mountain and fished from where the toll gate now is on the turnpike down to Greenville, and then started home. We hadn't gone far up the mountain when we found a bee tree that had been blown down by the winter's storms. There was lots of comb, but no honey. Either the bees had lived on the honey through the winter or it had run out when the tree fell. When we got home, we told my father, Levi Depew--we lived just above Dunmore Corners then.

"Well, Isaac, you and I will get that wax tomorrow," he replied. So next morning we were out early, and got the wax in a big sack. There was a lot of it, probably ten pounds when we melted it up, and it brought a good price those days.

"Well, after we started up the hill we got among some snakes. They were rattlers, very large, seven in number, and on all sides of us. My father and I soon dispatched them with canes. Well, after we got them all killed, we proceeded to cut them up and take out the fat which lay along the back bone. We were also careful to preserve the galls, for which Dr. Gideon of Pittston, a very old man, would pay us two shillings apiece. He would mix them up with powdered chalk and lay them away to dry. The wire dancers, or as you call them, rope walkers, used to come around two or three times a year and pay us two shillings an ounce for the oil to grease themselves to make them limber. They said we had nearly ten ounces from the seven snakes. Barney's Ledge used to be a great breeding place for rattlesnakes.

"Barney Carey lived in a house just this side of the toll gate before the war and he laid a claim to the ledge until people got to calling it Barney's Ledge. He claimed to have discovered a silver mine there. He used to discover coal mines everywhere. He would take a bag of coal and distribute it along a stream and then come to Henry W. Drinker to sell it as valuable coal property."

Jack Adler, R.D. 2, Moscow, PA, 18444 gave this clipping to HLRP on 1-24-86, and HLRP gave it to SRP.

GEESE 1977

What follows is a report of the canadian geese observed by members of the Powell family during the Fall migration 1977:

October 3: WSP spotted several flocks of geese as he was sweeping the greens; the geese made no calls

Joe McAlla reported to HLRP that he had seen several flocks of geese that morning

Golfers reported to HLRP that they had seen "squadrons of migrating geese"

In the early afternoon WSP, HLRP and SRP observed 10-12 flocks of migrating geese (approx. 500 birds)--the day was very windy and cold and it was raining and the geese were flying very quickly. DWP and SRP took a drive to Mud Pond, Newton Lake and Crystal Lake to see if they could spot some geese that were grounded by the bad weather--not a single goose was to be seen on any of those bodies of water.

In the late afternoon on Oct. 3, HLRP and DWP drove SRP to the bus station in Scranton. On their way back to Carbondale, HLRP and DWP spotted (as DWP reported in his letter to SRP of 5 October 1977) "Two flocks, along the Scranton-Carbondale Highway, on our way home, both high, one very large. One flock, extremely large, while HLRP was in Ames purchasing 2 gallons of cranberry juice, $2.59/gallon."

October 4: HLRP and WSP observed many geese at The Homestead. DWP reported in his letter to SRP of Oct. 5, 1977 as follows: "Tuesday. One very large V over the flower garden, while I was 'at toilet' preparing to depart Carbondale. I called down the back stairs and HLRP responded 'oh boy'. One flock, just as I turned the corner at Finch Hill. One flock, as I was coming down 81 at Clarkes Summit."

October 5: DWP reported in his letter of Oct. 5 to SRP as follows: "Wednesday. A flock of [sic] two along Crane Road. I was on my way in to town, Edinboro, to do errands."

October 13: HLRP noted on the calendar in the kitchen at The Homestead: "geese"

October 14: HLRP noted on the calendar in the kitchen at The Homestead: "many geese"

October 15: HLRP noted on the calendar in the kitchen at The Homestead: "many geese" "[It] snow[ed]"

October 16: SRP spotted 6 migrating geese as he was walking down 54th Street between 10th and 11th Avenues

October 18: SRP spotted 12 migrating geese from his window as he sat at his desk

In the course of a conversation between SRP and HLRP/WSP on 11-07-77 (SRP telephoned Carbondale), WSP reported that he had not seen a goose for two weeks, but that on 11-06-77 he did see a sea gull (eating worms on the golf course), a lesser yellow legs and a flock of about 100 brandt.

On October 20, 1977 at 1:30 PM HLRP, WSP and SRP set out from The Homestead on a seven-hour motor trip to look at the autumn foilage. They took the following route: up the Whitmore Road to Route 107; turn right on Route 107 and continue through Tompkinsville, Fleetville to The Lackawanna Trail; turn right on The Lackawanna Trail (which at that point is both Route 6 and Route 11); take Route 6 West off of The Lackawanna Trail and continue through Tunchkannock, Russell Hill, Meshoppen, Skinner's Eddy, Laceyville, Wyalusing, Rummerfield, Wysox; at Wysox take Route 187 North and continue on 187 North until it intersects with 467 East; turn onto 467 East and continue through Allis Hollow, Le Raysville, Stevensville; at Stevensville turn East onto Route 706 and continue through Lawton, Rush, Fairdale, Montrose; when Route 706 and Route 11 intersect--just before New Milford--turn right onto Route 11 and continue on Route 11 to Kingsley; at Kingsley take Route 106 and continue through Lenox, Clifford, Finch Hill.

SRP: "The only time in my life I ever remember seeing a red-headed woodpecker was up in here [past Maurice Gardner's on the left]."

WSP: "I remember seeing red-headed woodpeckers in the Dunmore Cemetery when I used to work there. But I don't remember seeing any around here."

- - - - - - - - - - -

HLRP: "Do you remember the night we came by here [Grace Farm] on the way home from Lakeland and it was so foggy that only the tops of the trees were showing. It was just like the ocean...one of the most beautiful things I ever saw."

- - - - - - - - - - -

HLRP: "Do you remember the time we saw a pileated woodpecker fly in front of us here [by the pond at the top of the hill just before Fleetville]?"

- - - - - - - - - - -

In the vicinity of Lake Sheridan 15 Canadian geese, 1 ring-neck, 2 meadow larks, 1 pigeon, many crows, many starlings and 25 snow birds [slate-colored juncos] were observed.

WSP: "One time I saw a flock of whistling swans at Lakeland. I heard what I thought was a pack of young dogs and it turned out to be a flock of swans."

- - - - - - - - - - -

WSP: "This was always about the prettiest place for leaves [on Route 6 West near Factoryville]. It was when I was a kid. Deciduous and coniferous trees all mixed up."

- - - - - - - - - - -

WSP: "There ought to be a deer up in that field there."

- - - - - - - - - -

WSP: "I counted seven healthy dogwood trees in the woods to the right of number one fairway this morning."

- - - - - - - - - -

WSP: "We used to come up here [at the bend of the river by the bridge just past Shadow Brook Golf Course] and fish when I was a kid."

- - - - - - - - - -

SRP: "Do you see much country like this when you are on your way to Florida?"

WSP: "Tennessee reminds me of the Bavarian Alps...of the pictures you see of them."

- - - - - - - - - -

Near Meshoppen a hawk (buteo) and about 30 crows were observed.

SRP: "I bought some beautiful new potatoes for ten cents a pound last week."

WSP: "Do you know how much that is a bushel?"

SRP: "No."

WSP: "A bushel of potatoes weighs sixty pounds."

- - - - - - - - - -

Near the village of Black Walnut WSP, HLRP and SRP stopped to read a roadside historical marker. WSP dictated to SRP the following information:

"Village of Black Walnut

Sullivan's March

Gen. John Sullivan's army camped on the lowland here Aug. 4, 1779. The fourth encampment between Fort Wyoming and Tioga Point.

The Sullivan Expedition against the Iroquois Indians 1779"

Very nearby a second historical marker was observed. WSP dictated to SRP the following information:

"Vanderlip's Farm

Fourteen miles from Tunchkannock
Fourth Encampment of Sullivan's army

on the march from Wyoming to Tioga
Aug. 4-5, 1779
lay on this lowland known as Black Walnut Flats

Marked by the PA Historical Commission and Tunchkannock Chapter, D.A.R. 1929"

Before arriving at Wyalusing Rocks, WSP and party turned left on Route 187 (going North) looking for the "French Azilum". They were unable to locate the French village but they did spot a white-crowned sparrow. SRP and WSP gathered bittersweet and black walnuts. SRP picked some red and yellow leaves.

- - - - - - - - - - -

On Lime Hill WSP and party stopped so that SRP could copy down a historical marker. WSP dictated the following to SRP:

Lime Hill

"Here Apr. 14, 1782, a party led by Sgt. Thos. Baldwin tried to rescue a woman and her children held as Indian captives. In a four-hour battle, three children were saved but the mother was killed."

Just beyond Lime Hill WSP and party stopped at a scenic overlook.

HLRP: "There's the rock that I took Albert's picture on. Albert is crouching. I near died taking the picture."

A short way beyond, a road sign "Marie Antoinette Scenic View 2000 feet" was observed. At that overlook SRP remarked: "This is the place where the picture of Donald, Russell, Gert, Dick and I was taken. You [HLRP] took the picture."

At that overlook a brass plaque bears the following information (which was dictated to SRP by HLRP):

Asylum

"A settlement of French Royalists who fled the French Revolution in 1793, was established in the valley directly opposite this marker. It was laid out and settled under the direction of Viscount de Noailles and Marquis Antoine Omer Talon. It was hoped that Queen Marie Antoinette might here find safety. Among many distinguished visitors to this place were Louis Philippe, Duke of Orleans, later King of France, Prince de Talleyrand, Duke de Montpensier and the Duke de la Rochefoucauld Liancourt. Marked by the Pennsylvania Historical Commission and the Bradford County Historical Society 1930"

At that same overlook a roadside marker bears the following information (which was dictated to SRP by WSP):

Azilum

"The broad plain which can be seen from this point was the site, 1793-1803, of the French Refugee Colony. The Great House, built for Marie Antoinette and her son, was there and an entire village founded."

At that same overlook WSP picked Virginia Creeper (leaves with three points). The leaves had turned a bright red.

Farther along on Route 6 yet another roadside marker was observed and the information thereon copied down, to wit:

Azilum

"Site of the famed French refugee colony is a few miles SW. Here exiles laid out a town and built La Grande Maison for the Queen and her son, the heir to the throne of France"

Several side roads in the vicinity of Wyalusing Rocks were taken. At one point WSP and party drove by a beautiful Universalist Church that was built in 1858. The church has a "widow's walk" around the steeple.

- - - - - - - - - - -

WSP: "You should see deer in this country [traveling East on Route 467 eight miles from Le Raysville]."

- - - - - - - - - - -

WSP: "The hard maple trees go yellow, the soft maples go red."

- - - - - - - - - - -

HLRP: "I always like riding along and seeing lights on in the barns...doing the milking at night. The lights in our barn on the hill were nice to see as you rode up the road. It always reminds me of a train moving along in the night."

- - - - - - - - - - -

Traveling East on Route 467 two "Horse and Buggy" road signs and one horse and buggy were observed. Between LeRaysville and Stevensville six deer were also observed. As WSP and party rode along Route 467 WSP remarked: "Mountains on top of mountains. First time I've ever been on this road."

- - - - - - - - - - -

HLRP: "Remember we used to come up to Montrose to fireworks?"

SRP: "Oh yes. I had forgotten all about that."

HLRP: "The last time we came to the fireworks Viola Hendrickson was with us. Montrose is the capital of Susquehanna County."

- - - - - - - - - - -

As WSP and party traveled along Route 467 WSP remarked: "All these curves and bends, they ought to have the grand prix here. This is worse than the old road to Carbondale used to be... It's a nice road to travel if you're not going any place."

HLRP: "I remember the building of the old road. It was concrete from the Whitmore Road on out. Between Carbondale and the house it was macadam. It was built by Rosetti."

WSP: "You're sure it was Rosetti?"

HLRP: "I remember Rosetti trucks and I remember the building of the forms for the concrete. There was a stone crusher across from the house. Louise fell and burnt her knees on the hot coals. I can remember them carrying Louise across the road. I was pre-teen at the time."

- - - - - - - - - - -

HLRP: "The beginning of Route 106 at Kingsley used to be called Cameron's Corners. It's now called Lenox."

- - - - - - - - -

As WSP and party arrived in Clifford, WSP remarked: "I'm cookin supper. Anybody hungry?" In the Restaurant at Clifford WSP and party took supper. HLRP had a hot beef sandwich; WSP a ham and cheese club sandwich; SRP a turkey club sandwich. As WSP and party supped, Vauder (owner of a golf course in the area) came into the Restaurant as did Bob Isger and his wife and brother-in-law. HLRP: "Bob Isger's son is in the Homestead Horse Club." WSP and party returned to The Homestead at 8:30 PM. At 8:32 AMSP called to ask if Laura, April and William could spend the night at The Homestead because Russell and Ann had to leave at 6 the following morning so that Russell could have his back examined at Geisinger Hospital at Danville. A few minutes after the conclusion of the phone call, Russell and family arrived.

On August 20, 1978, WSP, DWP and SRP took a walk in the McCale pasture, Lynch's pines, Decker's field. In the course of that walk, SRP picked a bouquet of the following twenty-six flowers (which was subsequently placed on the foundation of the Grey Barn and photographed by DWP):

1. Spotted Joe-Pye Weed (Eupatorium maculatum)
2. Yarrow (Achillea millefolium)
3. Queen Anne's Lace or Wild Carrot (Daucus carota)
4. Birdfoot Trefoil (Lotus corniculatus)
5. Hop Clover (Trifolium agrarium)
6. Lance-Leaved Goldenrod (Solidago graminifolia)
7. Elm-Leaved Goldenrod (Solidago ulmifolia)
8. Tall Goldenrod (Solidago altissima)
9. Common or Tall Buttercup (Ranunculus acris)
10. Musk Mallow (pink, white, lavender) (Malva moschata)
11. Pearly Everlasting (Anaphalis margaritacea)
12. White Clover (Trifolium repens)
13. Meadowsweet (Spiraea latifolia)
14. Red or Purple Trillium or Wakerobin (Trillium erectum)
15. Steeplebush or Hardhack (Spiraea tomentosa)
16. Field Milkwort (Polygala sanguinea)
17. Red Clover (Trifolium pratense)
18. Night-Flowering Catchfly (Silene noctiflora)
19. Wild Madder (Galium mollugo)
20. Ox-Eye Daisy (Chrysanthemum leucanthemum)
21. Crooked-Stemmed Aster (Aster prenanthoides)
22. Spotted Touch-Me-Not (Impatiens capensis)
23. Daisy Fleabane or Horse Daisy (Erigeron annuus)
24. Yellow Wood Sorrel (Oxalis stricta)

25. Heal-All or Selfheal or Bee-Balm (Prunella vulgaris)

26. Cow or Tufted Vetch (Vicia cracca)

During that walk, WSP pointed out a tree (between the Whitmore Road and the creek) and remarked that he did not know the name of the tree. A small branch was taken as a sample and later identified as American Hop (shaggy bark).

In the far end of the McCale pasture (by the Whitmore Road) WSP, DWP and SRP gathered a small bagfull of Redberry Wintergreen leaves (Gaultheria procumbens).

On April 9, 1979, DWP mailed page 6 of that day's issue of The Scranton Tribune to SRP. The newspaper article that is reproduced below appears on that page.

Carbondaleans Bird Watch During Visit to N.Y. State

What do a European widgeon, a herring gull, an osprey, a greater scaup duck and a red-breasted merganser have in common?

The answer is simple. They and 42 other species of feathered friends were spotted by the Powell family of Carbondale on a one-day, 10-hour, 330-mile trip into New York State and back.

The Powell family – Walter and Helen and their three sons, Donald, Robert and Russell, and Russell's wife, Ann, and their three children, Laura, April and William – made their fifth annual trip last week from their home to Lake Cayuga, in New York's Finger Lakes region.

Among the rarer species spotted on the trip were the American goldeneye, the red-breasted merganser, the bufflehead, osprey, shoveler, red-headed duck, canvas-backed duck and the European widgeon.

Among the less exotic species spotted were: American coot, blue jay, boat-tailed grackle, broad-winged hawk, Canadian goose, cardinal, common loon, cowbird, crow, downy woodpecker, chickadee, flicker, fox sparrow and the great blue heron.

Also, the greater scaup duck, the hairy woodpecker, herring gull, horned grebe, house finch, house sparrow, mallard, meadow lark, mourning dove, purple finch, purple grackle, red-breasted nuthatch, red-tailed duck, red-tailed hawk, red-winged blackbird, ring-billed gull and a robin.

Also spotted were the ruffed grouse, sharp-shinned hawk, shoveler, song sparrow, starling, slate-colored junco, tree sparrow, three swallow, turkey vulture and the white-breasted nuthatch.

During the recent excursion, the Powells noted nearly 10,000 Canadian geese and ducks resting on or near Cayuga Lake – one of the largest eastern flyway resting points on the migratory path from Canada to the South.

"In 1971," Powell remembered, "I'll bet we saw close to 100,000 geese and ducks in a single day. Everywhere you looked, both in the sky and on the water, there were flocks of geese and ducks."

On April 9, 1979, DWP mailed page 6 of that day's issue of The Scranton Tribune to SRP. The newspaper article that is reproduced below appears on that page.

POWELLS TAKE SPRING BIRD COUNT

Forty-seven different species of birds were observed by Walter and Helen (Russell) Powell and their three sons, Donald, Robert and Russell, and Russell's wife, Ann Swindlehurst, and the three children of Russell and Ann Powell (Laura, April and William) on Sunday, April 1, 1979, in the course of a 10-hour, 330-mile, day's motor trip from their homes in R. D. # 1 Carbondale to Cayuga Lake, New York.

Those forty-seven species are as follows:

1. American coot
2. American goldeneye
3. blue jay
4. boat tailed grackle
5. broad winged hawk
6. bufflehead
7. Canada goose
8. canvas back duck
9. cardinal
10. common loon
11. cowbird
12. crow
13. downy woodpecker
14. chickadee
15. European widgeon
16. flicker
17. fox sparrow
18. great blue heron
19. greater scaup duck
20. hairy woodpecker
21. herring gull
22. horned grebe
23. house finch
24. house sparrow
25. mallard
26. meadow lark
27. mourning dove
28. osprey
29. purple finch
30. purple grackle
31. red breasted merganser
32. red breasted nuthatch
33. red head duck
34. red tailed hawk

35. red winged blackbird
36. ring billed gull
37 robin
38. ruffed grouse (the PA state bird)
39. sharp shinned hawk
40. shoveler
41. song sparrow
42. starling
43. slate colored junco
44. tree sparrow
45. tree swallow
46. turkey vulture
47. white breasted nuthatch

Many of the species observed by the Powells on April 1 are frequently seen in Northeastern Pennsylvania. Many are not, for example, American goldeneye, red breasted merganser (positive identification made by Ann Powell), bufflehead, osprey, shoveler, red head duck, canvas back duck, European widgeon (positive identification made by Russell Powell).

Among the rarer birds observed by the Powells in previous years on their Cayuga Lake trips, but not this year, are: brandt, blue winged teal, hooded merganser, snow goose, blue goose, whistling swan, pintail, horned lark, bluebird. The bluebird, among many other birds, Walter Powell reported, was all but exterminated by DDT in the 1950s and 1960s, but following the nationwide ban on the use of DDT, the bluebird is presently making a comeback. In 1978 several pairs of bluebirds nested and successfully reared young in bird houses made and put up for them by Walter Powell on The Homestead Golf Course, R. D. # 1, Carbondale.

This year's trip to Cayuga Lake was the fifth such trip since 1971 undertaken by the Powells in early April--the time of the great northern migrations of waterfowl, particularly of the Canada goose. On April 1, on or near Cayuga Lake, among the largest resting places in the eastern flyway for migratory waterfowl before their final departure for their northern breeding grounds, the Powells observed over 10,000 Canada geese and ducks--less than in previous years. "In 1971," Walter Powell reported, "I'll bet we saw close to 100,000 geese and ducks in a single day." "Everywhere you looked, both in the sky and on the water, there were flocks of geese and ducks," Helen Powell recalled.

When asked if the reason why less geese and ducks were seen this year than in previous years was because there are less waterfowl this year to see, Walter Powell stated: "There are just as many geese and ducks to see this year as in other years. If we didn't see as many geese and ducks this year, maybe it's because we didn't pick the best day to go up to Cayuga Lake. Maybe we went too early, maybe we went too late. Early or late, we did, however, see over 10,000 geese and ducks this year." Helen Powell added this final note: "Whether we see 10,000 geese and ducks, or ten times that amount, it's always a great thrill, and as sure a sign as any that Spring is here."

The newspaper article ("Powells count birds on way to New York") that is reproduced below was published in The Carbondale (Pa.) News on Wednesday, April 18, 1979 (p. 5). Herring gull, horned grebe, house finch, house sparrow, mallard, meadow lark, mourning dove, osprey, purple finch, purple grackle, red breasted merganser, red breasted nuthatch, red head duck, red tailed hawk, red winged blackbird, ring billed gull, robin, ruffed grouse (the Pa. state bird), sharp shinned hawk, shoveler, song sparrow, starling, slate colored junco, tree sparrow, tree swallow, turkey vulture, white breasted nuthatch.

Many of the species observed by the Powells on April 1 are frequently seen in Northeastern Pennsylvania. Many are not, for example, American goldeneye, red breasted merganser (positive identification made by Ann Powell), bufflehead, osprey, shoveler, red head duck, canvas back duck, European wiegeon (positive identification made by Russell Powell).

Among the rarer birds observed by the Powels in previous years on their Cayuga Lake trips, but not this year, are: brandt, blue winged teal, hooded merganser, snow goose, blue goose, whistling swan, pintail, horned lark, bluebird.

The bluebird, among many other birds, Walter Powell reported, was all but exterminated by DDT in the 1950s and 1960s, but following the nationwide ban on the use of DDT, the bluebird is presently making a comeback. In 1978 several pairs of bluebirds nested and successfully reared young in bird houses made and put up for them by Walter Powell on The Homestead Golf Course, RD 1, Carbondale.

This year's trip to Cayuga Lake was the fifth such trip since 1971 undertaken by the Powells in early April -- the time of the great northern migrations of waterfowl, particularly of the Canada goose. On April 1, on or near Cayuga Lake, among the largest resting places in the eastern flyway for migratory waterfowl before their final departure for their northern breeding grounds, the Powells observed over 10,000 Canada geese and ducks -- less than in previous years.

"In 1971, " Walter Powell reported, "I'll bet we saw close to 100,000 geese and ducks in a single day."

"Everywhere you looked, both in the sky and on the water, there were flocks of geese and ducks," Helen Powell recalled.

When asked if the reason why less geese and ducks were seen this year than in previous years was because there are less waterfowl this year to see, Walter Powell stated, "There are just as many geese and ducks to see this year as in other years. If we didn't see as many geese and ducks this year, maybe it's because we didn't pick the best day to go up to Cayuga Lake. Maybe we went too early, maybee we went too late. Early or late, we did, however, see over 10,000 geese and ducks this year."

Helen Powell added this final note, "Whether we see 10,000 geese and ducks, or 10 times that amount, it's always a great thrill, and as sure a sign as any that spring is here."

Dril[illegible] Work On Fallbrook Is 'Routine'

Test drilling being done near the junction of Route 106 and Crystal Lake Road in Fell Twp. was reported "routine" today by the Army Corps of Engineers. Officials said the work was in conjunction with studies on possible water resource projects.

Robert Blake, information officer of the Army Corps of Engineers, Baltimore, said the drilling operations being conducted at the site on Fallbrook Creek, about 2½ miles north of Carbondale, is a preliminary investigation to determine the subsurface condition of the area and does not mean that a dam definitely would be built there.

However, he said, the corps recognizes the good potential of the site as a water resource, but stressed that it is only one of many under consideration for development.

"The need and potential is there," he said, and if selected the "site would include a reservoir and recreational facilities" making it a park-type development.

Actually, the Fallbrook location is the last of the possible sites to be tested. When results of the drilling are available, the data and information on the various sites will be weighed and a decision made on where the reservoir-park is to be constructed.

Four bore holes to test the core and strata of the site on Fallbrook Creek were begun two weeks ago.

The drilling operations are under way at a point where Fallbrook Creek courses between two mountains and residents in the vicinity are becoming concerned that a dam there would involve relocation of homes and inundation of property.

No factories

Dear Citizens of Greenfield Twp.:

Progress has many meanings. To the factory owner, it's expanding to make more money at the expense of the land and the people who care for the land. Problems seem to follow the progress of small rural areas such as Greenfield Twp. Factories bring more people to the area who have cars, who heed housing, and schooling for their children.

With more housing it will take up more of the beautiful landscape that Greenfield is noted for. They will also need water. So to get water they dig a well like everyone else does in Greenfield Twp. Now there will be more people to share the water supply with, not even to mention the fact that the factory will take its share of the water. (And for those who don't know, water flows down hill. So those who live on top of a hill have a chance of their water running out, since more people will be taking it down the hill.) But, of course, since Greenfield is a so called, 'good location for a factory,' then the water problem could be solved by sending in the chlorinated water like they do in the cities.

There will also have to be an adequate number of police officers to protect the houses, the people, and of course the factory. This will lead us to having our taxes raised for getting more policemen. But why hire more police? There is enough of Greenfield's finest to handle the crime rate that exists there now. With more people there will be more chance of crime. So no more leaving those windows and doors open in the summer when it gets hot out! We will have to buy air conditioners and pay for the electricity to run them.

If you order an air conditioner and have it delivered to your home to be installed, the truck that brings it will have to fight through the traffic of those going to work or those coming home from the factory, and also the trucks that will make deliveries to and from the factory. Trucks don't only run during the day, for those who live hear the highway (especially Rt. 106) will wake up in the middle of the night to the roaring of the trucks that go by.

The added cars and trucks will share in an added pollution problem. Plus the wastes that the factory will put out as it tries to obey the pollution regulations set forth by the state. But don't worry, the state will always check the factory to see if it is obeying these regulations. Especially way out in the rural area in winter when the roads are so clear, and easy to travel on. If the pollution increases, the trees will lose their crisp greenness and the sky will lose its welcoming blueness. Then the people won't have a pretty scenic area to look at as they drive to their well-located factory, or neither will the children who ride on buses to their over-crowded schools. Speaking of over-crowded schools, we will have to build more of them and our taxes will take yet another hike.

There will be a lot of money in the area and, of course, everyone will share in that money. That's progress, the turning of (G) greenfields into greenbacks. Who needs the land as long as we have money? When our children grow they will learn to appreciate the dollar, instead of the making of a tree. They will know how to handle finances, instead of family matters. There will be no time or place to be alone to think.

I grew up in the environment of Greenfield Township. I learned a lot about nature, friendly people, and myself. There were places, in the surrounding woods, where I could go to organize my thoughts without the worry of someone mugging me or robbing my house. I had great friends who helped me through my stages in growing and learning. They consisted of my God, my family, my neighbors, my guitar, and those great little places where I went to think in Greenfield Township.

It's great to wake up in the morning and hear the birds singing instead of trucks roaring, or cars honking by the house hustling to get to work. Boredom only struck the lazy person. Those who indulged in the chores of the day were content with their work and felt the sense of fulfillment when they would lay down to sleep. This type of atmosphere teaches truthfulness, honesty, patience, and contentment in a person. It shares the virtues of beauty and relaxation with those who enter it or just pass through.

I am proud to be a part of Greenfield Township and all it has taught me. All I ask is to be able to share it with my future wife and kids the way I did, in my crime and pollution-free environment with fresh air and water. I want to share with them the beauty of wide open fields and rolling hills and to make our home among them.

Greenfield Township has been a great teacher and friend, I want it to live in my family forever. May God bless you Greenfield Township. May He allow you to keep your beauty, just they way it is, for those who care about you.

Weston to announce decision

By BARBARA WROBLESKI

Dick Morhmon, vice president and general manager of Weston Controls, Archbald, told the NEWS last Wednesday afternoon that a decision will be announced this month on the site the corporation has selected for its $6 million nuclear division plant. The Weston official added that the company plans to be in production in their new facility by December.

Where the plant will eventually be built is the subject of much discussion throughout the county, and brought up by the audience at last Monday's evening's meeting of the Fell Township Board of Supervisors in the municipal building.

Bernard Mozda, board chairman, noted that one of the sites being examined by Weston for the plant is the Powell estate property along Route 106. The site is rural and spacious, two factors Weston considers desirable, but it lacks sewer lines. For several months, Mozda has been working to obtain a $1.5 million dollar grant to have those needed lines installed to make the site even more attractive to Weston. The township also offers tax-exempt status to any new business entering its borders.

However, Mozda reasoned that if Weston wants to be in production by December, sewer lines could not be laid at the site in time, since the township will not receive word that it will or will not get the grant before August.

The chairman speculated that if a company such as Weston were very interested in locating at a particular site, such as in Fell Twp., it may delay construction of the plant until the site is prepared for construction. In the meantime, the company may lease a suitable building for its operations, and enter the new plant when completed, possibly in two to five years. Mozda added however, that he knows of no such existing building in the area and emphasized he was only speculating.

Other sites under consideration for the Weston plant include two in Scranton and one in Olyphant, the latter located about a half-mile from the newly constructed Mid-Valley High School.

Olyphant's Mayor Michael Cherkansky told the NEWS he is hopeful Weston will select the site, since it is secluded, large, and has sewer and water lines. There is also a very good road system connecting the area to all points in the county and with interstate highways.

In other business, it was announced that Jeddo-Highland Coal Company, West Pittston, has again submitted an application for a surface mine drainage permit with the Department of Environmental Resources, one of two requirements the company must fulfill before it can begin mining operations on acreage it owns in Simpson along Wilson Creek.

In December, 1981, the NEWS reported that a similar permit application was rejected by DER since it did not include a detailed erosion and sedimentation control plan. Louis Pagnotti III, Jeddo-Highland's engineer, noted that following the receipt of its drainage permit, it must then apply for and obtain a mining permit before work can begin at the site.

Presently, the company is interested in conducting surface minimg on 30 of the 441 acres it owns in the township, and if it wishes to mine additional acreage in the future, Jeddo-Highland would need to repeat the permit application processes.

The board also signed a bridge inspection and inventory agreement with Michael Pasonick Engineering to pay the firm $844 for preliminary studies aimed at the replacement of the Midland Street Bridge, Simpson. Fell Township will pay 20 percent of that fee while the state will provide the remaining 80 percent.

Of the nine structures submitted by township residents for demolition in the Lackawanna County Vector Control's spring program, only two were rejected: one at 6 Reservoir Street, and another at 112 Tuttle Street. Vector Control will soon be razing dilapidated, one-story structures throughout the county which may pose safety hazards or are rodent-infested.

Greenfield Twp. a local boom town

If any upper valley community deserves to be called a "boom town," it's Greenfield Twp., which more than doubled its number of housing units between 1970 and 1980.

The rural community, located west of Carbondale, had 395 housing units in 1970. But by 1980, it had 863, an increase of 118.5 per cent. According to the Economic Development Council of Northeastern Pennsylvania (EDCNP), this makes the local community the 18th fastest growing in terms of housing units in the seven counties of Northeastern Pennsylvania.

Population wise, Greenfield Twp. is by far the fastest growing local community from 1970 to 1980. While most local towns saw their population figures drop, Greenfield's rose from 1,140 to 1,506 during that period, an increase of 32 percent. The local community closest to that figure, Clifford, recorded a 23 per cent increase.

Greenfield's 118.5 per cent housing unit increase made it the fourth fastest growing Lackawanna County community in the ten-year span. Only Clifton, Benton and Lehigh Twps. had greater rises in housing units.

The local community was one of 28 Northeastern Pennsylvania municipalities to have housing unit growth rates of over 100 per cent from 1970 to 1980. Blooming Grove Twp., in Pike County, led the way with a 421 per cent jump.

The newspaper article ("Park Name Honors Two") that is reproduced below was published in The Scranton Tribune on Friday, March 31, 1978 (p. 7). An original copy of that article was appended by DWP to p. 132 (11 April 1979) of his 1978-1979 letter to SRP. It is from that original copy that the copy that is reproduced below was produced.

Park Name Honors Two

The Lackawanna County commissioners Wednesday adopted a resolution renaming Finch Hill Park "Merli-Sarnoski Medal of Honor Park" in honor of the two regional Congressional Medal of Honors winners.

Gino Merli, Peckville, and the late Joseph Sarnoski, Fell Township, are the county's only recipients of the nation's highest military award. Sarnoski was killed in action during World War II. Merli was wounded in action on three occasions during the same conflict.

The commissioners ordered readvertising of bids for the food and boat concessions at the county park. The concessions did not operate last year because the park was not fully operational until late summer.

Because of a lack of bids, the commissioners moved to solicit estimates from local contractors on renovating the Lackawanna County Runaway Youth Home. It is estimated the work will cost $5,000 and it must be done before the federal government will approve funding for the home.

The commissioners authorized the county's drug and alcohol program for fiscal year 1978-79 and were told $486,000 of the $750,000 budget would be used in treatment of patients.

Gratz Washenick was named a member of the Lackawanna County Housing Authority. His term will expire May 3, 1981.

Easter Sunday

Dear Friends, relatives, one and all:

On Palm Sunday April the third, 1977 at 8:07 A.M., in Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital, Riverside Drive, Binghamton, N.Y., after an all night vigil, I was present at the passing of my dearly beloved wife, Emily, who after a lenghty illness wandered into an unknown land. Doctors of medicine and surgery seem to agree that antibiotics used to combat infection of the replaced heart valve caused malfunction of her kidneys.

Funeral services were conducted at the William R. Chase & Son Funeral Home, 737 Chenango Street (Port Dickinson) Binghamton, N.Y., on Tuesday, April 5, 1977 with Rev. George Dickenson and Rev. Thomas G. Swales, D.D. officiating. Burial was in the family plot in the Masonic section of Vestal Hills Memorial Park. May she there rest in peace, and the Great Architect of the Universe watch over her and care for her.

Those desiring to contribute in the memory of Emily A. Odell were asked to contribute to the Wyoming Conference Children's Home, 1182 Chenango St., Hillcrest, Binghamton, N.Y. 13901 or the Shriner's Crippled Children's Hospitals c/o 117 Murray St., Binghamton, N.Y., 13905.

After three months of travel and vigil due to her illness culminating in death, I am slowly adjusting to a new life style with my only companion, our apricot poodle named "Major." May the Good Lord provide for us and keep us in His care. My neice, Carol Ann Storz, her husband and son, of Hancock, N.Y., stop in Wednesdays and Sundays to help maintain the household, for which I am truly grateful. Expecting to do some traveling this summer to distant states, I have retained the ownership, but sublet our camp on a nearby lake to a lifelong friend and his wife with privilege of my use by mutual agreement.

I desire to thank everyone for their prayers, contributions, cards and thoughtful concerns, and to those of you who became my friends through many hours of constant vigil over loved ones in three different hospitals in Binghamton and Rochester, N.Y. I sincerely hope that the Lord Almighty has seen fit to restore health to your Loved One. I would greatly appreciate hearing from you.

Of the many cards and letters I received, may I quote the verse on one by the poet James Whitcomb Riley:

I cannot say - and I will not say
That she is dead. She is just away!
   With a cherry smile,
     and a wave of the hand
She has wandered into an unknown land
   And left us dreaming how very fair
           It needs must be,
              since she lingers there;
So think of her faring on, as dear
In the love of There as the love of Here;
   Think of her still
     as the same, I say,
She is not dead, she is just away.

In remembrance to my loving wife, Emily

HIGH SCHOOL CLASSES ALL CELEBRATED HALLOWE'EN

Annual Hallowe'en Festivities Took Place In Gymnasium Last Night — It Looked Weird and Ghostly But It Wasn't.

Last night's Hallowe'en affair at the High School proved to be a tremendous success from a financial and entertaining standpoint. Both students nd grown-ups enjoyed themselves to the utmost. Music was furnished by an orthophonic Victor machine and dancing was enjoyed by those who cared to participate in the art. Many things were sold at the various booths and these were readily purchased by the crowd, who entered into the holiday atmosphere of the occasion with much spirit and zest.

The appearance of the gym, where the affair was held, presented a truly striking spectacle to the immense audience. It was gotten up in the most bizarre and fantastic manner possible, with the decorations all in tune with the general air of the place. No oriental den could have been more cleverly portrayed by professienal interior decoraters, than tne work done by the students in the ornamentaton of the gym. All that was possible was done in order to insure a party-like atmosphere and appearance.

On one side of the gymnasium were the booths of the various classes, while on the other side were the extra attractions; the rear was devoted to a ghostly, ghastly, spooks graveyard. Each of the booths represented some thing or animal in keeping with the spirit of the event. Black cats, men in the moon, skeletons, and the den of the devil, all these and more were there in their wildest conception. Blood from the haunts of Blue-beard, fortunes from the gypsy camp, and games of chance interspersed with howls and shreiks from the spok's grave yard all added to the weird and uncanny aspect of the place.

Aside from the entertaining standpoint, the financial returns were very good. The total returns will not be learned until later but the reports learned so far have been far exceeding those expected. In round numbers, the amount reached thus far has been in the vicinity of $275.00. As yet no provision has been made for spending this money, but it is expected that it will be put to some good advantage.

Professor Loftus this morning gave a short speech on the benefits derived from work of this sort. He said that not only the pupil who is bright in algebra or latin, is the student who succeeds in life, but also the fellow or girl who take an interest in social affairs, and who takes the initiative by drecting others in the matter of decorating and arranging such an affair as last night's proved to be. He thanked the students who helped in any way to make it a success, and also those who purchased tickets or sold them. He stressed the fact that the parents are wanted in the school activities, not because of the admission price, but so that they may see what their boy and girl are doing along social development lines.

The fact that this affair met with such a colossal success, would bid like success for other such affairs as might be held in Carbondale High chool.

He thanked the students who helped in any way to make it a success, and also those who purchased tickets or sold them. He stressed the fact that the parents are wanted in the school activities, not because of the admission price, but so that they may see what their boy and girl are doing along social development lines.

The fact that this affair met with such a colossal success, would bid like success for other such affairs as might be held in Carbondale High chool.

Conversion of Pessimists Necessary to Uplift Business in American, Commencement Day Speaker Says; Two Thousand Attend Exercises

CARBONDALE, June 20.—"Business will be uplifted in America when we convert the pessimists," Dr. Stanley L. Krebs, president of the Institute of Mercantile Art, New York, stated in his address this morning in Irving theater before 146 graduates and more than 2,000 friends and relatives of the class of 1930, at the forty-ninth annual commencement exercises of Carbondale High school.

The program was opened with an overture by the local school orchestra under direction of Prof. Leon L. Bly. After the singing of the Star Spangled-

MILDRED SCOTT

Banner the class saluted the new American flag which was preesnted by the members as a parting gift to the school. Several numbers were rendered by the chorus and there was a piano solo, "Second Mazurka," by Miss Ruth Coles. Much applause was given Miss Mildred Scott, Sand street, and Emil Niesen, Church street, who delivered the valedictory and salutatory, respectively. Miss Scott's subject was "Facing Life," and Mr. Niesen's, "Virgil." M. F. Walsh, vice-president, school board, presented the diplomas. A telegram of congratulations was received by the class from A. L. Nealon, president, who is confined to a Pittsburgh hospital.

Address of Miss Scott

Miss Scott spoke, in part, as follows:

There are days and days, some full of cloudy weather; some full of sun, some full of happy memories like diamonds set in dull old gold. Today as we stand on the bridge that spans yesterday with tomorrow, we stand facing life, life changed with promise, magical promise as old as time and as young as eternity. We stand without backs to memory, happy memory of years of life and labor shared in a great cause, the making of men and women.

In the boardest sense, education includes "all those experiences by which intelligence is developed, knowledge acquired and character formed," the true ideal of education was reached when God, the son, became man and said, "teach all men" and in teaching them He commanded that we lead each individual back to his creator. Here then, is the secret of education—moral training—; character is the Gibraltor of citizenship and success.

One hundred and forty-six trails lead from this platform today down the way of life. They will take impetus, enthusiastic youth to sun swept country lanes, to crowded city streets and across blue seas. We will start fleet of foot, consecrated to a glowing ideal. How far we will go motivated by the beacon that beckoned us onward depends upon the character we bring to society; what we have garnered from the hands of time. Will we lie down tired and as allusioned travelers lost in a dark labyrinth of blasted hopes, shattered philosophies and futile sacrifices, or will we survive the wreck and welter of the storm? Certainly the reckless and riotous tendencies of youth is not more flagrant than in other days seem more flamboyant today in the limelight of publicity. And yet there are plenty of good American children in our country today and we contend that we belong to this group.

That agency whose primary object is to teach, is the school, "the training camp of the future as its product, the scholar, is the champion of the coming years." It's greatest object should be to set before the child some future to which he may aspire and which may fire his enthusiasm; some future which may supply him with a strong motive for making the most of his opportunities. Today we stand facing life, a high school diploma in our hand, and nary a jingle in our pockets, and a kind providence flings down into our laps time, his richest gift.

Salutatorian Speaks

Mr. Niesen, salutatorian, spoke, in part, as follows: "The class of 1930 welcomes you to its commencement exercises. For four years we have pictured this day. How far away it seemed to us. Yet, when one looks back, how short the time. After those years of care and study it is now only a memory. We are grateful to all, especially to our parents who have assisted us in our long educational journey. During the year 1930 classical schools throughout the world are celebrating in honor of the great poet, Virgil."

Dr. Krebs, spoke, in part, as follows:

We are waiting for business to come up to normalcy. Somebody has to lift it up, it won't come up itself. Rock and coal won't change—we must do something with it. Why the sag in the coal business—because of the economical sag of the rest of the world. All other business is witnessing the same sag. It may be lifted back to normalcy, but who is going to do it? God won't do it. He never works except through human beings. Even though he might send storms and multiply coal, we must do something. I have faced more businessmen than Coolidge has or Hoover ever will, not saying this to be boastful, but it is my business to consult with men in managerial posts, many of them members of Chamber of Commerces.

The solution of the whole sag in business, I believe can be solved in what I am going to tell you. I have made thousands of experiments in the business world and that is supposed to be the most practical world. The solution is to swat the pessimist whenever you hear him crow. Say something against him with a smile as you greet him. His fists may be closed when he starts but he may open his hands. When you convert one man you uplift the business of your community. Suppose we were all pessimists, what would the world be like? You would all move out of Carbondale if you listened to pessimists. Pessimism is the curious howling duck that wabbles his tongue predicting something bad for tomorrow—a strike, a change of government, a panic.

Create Own Conditions

Man is a creator. He creates his own conditions. Six years ago on my way to Denver in a railroad dining car I heard a man who had the looks of a businessman, say: "United States is due for a panic or revolution." Nobody argued with him. Will talk like that clothe the nation? Will talk like that feed the country? Is that the way preachers talk when they go out to build a new church? Is that the way businessmen send salesmen out on the road? Why do we permit that kind of talk in our presence without some rebuke to the man or woman handing it out? It is your worst enemy, individually and collectively. The person who talks behind your back is your worst enemy. There is talking behind our backs in southeastern Europe now. Who is going to stop that whispering? If France has something to say to us she will talk it out before us. The same is true of Italy, England and United States.

Since the adoption of the federal reserve banking system never has there been a financial panic in the United States and there never can be one. Up until 1896 there were eight men who could meet around a table and by their resolutions in that private room, stop practically all the wheels from rotating in the United States. They had more power than congress at that time. The laboring men put up a howl and other men joined in protest. The federal reserve board knows where money is most needed.

Money in the past had two functions—medium of exchange and measure of value. Can they discover a third function to money? The board is working under that scheme now. By it your children will be able to borrow money from the government. It will be paid back years later with same value as when borrowed. If you are a pessimist change your mind; it is a big man who changes his mind and admits he was wrong.

In closing Dr. Krebs urged the graduates to rise with the learnings of their own education and not to feel too modest of themselves. "The trouble with most students," he said, "is in the fact that they don't have swelled heads enough."

Since the adoption of the federal reserve banking system never has there been a financial panic in the United States and there never can be one. Up until 1896 there were eight men who could meet around a table and by their resolutions in that private room, stop practically all the wheels from rotating in the United States. They had more power than congress at that time. The laboring men put up a howl and other men joined in protest. The federal reserve board knows where money is most needed.

Money in the past had two functions—medium of exchange and measure of value. Can they discover a third function to money? The board is working under that scheme now. By it your children will be able to borrow money from the government. It will be paid back years later with same value as when borrowed. If you are a pessimist change your mind; it is a big man who changes his mind and admits he was wrong.

In closing Dr. Krebs urged the graduates to rise with the learnings of their own education and not to feel too modest of themselves. "The trouble with most students," he said, "is in the fact that they don't have swelled heads enough."

GEORGE SNYDER — George has learned much during his years in High School, but we feel that he really should take a few advance lessons in driving, before he will be the "ideal motorist."

HARLEIGH STARK—The Narcissus of the Senior class; but, we are glad to say, Harleigh is without the mythical character's vanity. Harleigh is artistic, as his "Problems of Democracy" notebook, testifies. He also excels in shorthand and typing. He has our most sincere wishes for a happy life.

JOHN MOON — In the classroom, we can hardly hear his voice, but outdoors! Oh, my! John is a good sport, however, and has our heartiest wishes. Basketball.

MARY MOONEY — Here's to one of our most popular girls! Mary's interest in school activities has won for her the friendship of her fellow students. Good wishes, Mary, from your class to you.

MARY MORAN—Mary is rather quiet, but a fine student, and though we are not certain what she wishes to do after graduation, we hope that her future will be bright.

DOMINIC MOTSAY — We wonder if Dominic will be an orator. He is a fine student, and is also interested in social activities. Honor roll. Dramatic club.

GEORGE NICHOLS—George is a quiet boy, but his friendliness makes him a favorite among his fellow Seniors. Success to you, George.

EMIL NIESEN—In Emil we have the one who has attained the highest scholastic honors among the boys of the Senior class. We feel that he fully deserves every honor that has been conferred upon him. We wish you all the happiness and success that life can bring you, Emil. Honor roll. Eclogue staff.

MARY O'BOYLE — Mary is interested in athletics. She is a rather shy lass, though on occasions she enters gayly into school social functions. Basketball.

BETTY OWENS—Betty is a fine student, but is always present whenever a good time is expected.

HELEN O'BRIEN — Helen has helped to make many of our social activities successful. Were it not for a certain officer of our class, we prophesy for her the career of an actor. Dramatic club.

CHARLOTTE PATTEN—"Cleo" is another member of our "star five." We do not know her hobby—but it isn't French. Basketball.

HAZEL PETERS—Hazel's chief interest is out of school; without a doubt, a certain minister's son could explain it. Hazel is quiet and reserved, but we have enjoyed her companionship.

CLIFFORD PHILLIPS — "Jack-of-all-trades" but master of the mimeograph machine, is Clifford. He delights in joking, but we believe that he is serious sometimes; the question is—when?

HELEN PRICE—Helen is lovely, and her sunny smiles have won our hearts. We are glad to call her a "fellow Senior," and we wish her success.

HELEN RUSSELL—Athletic and ambitious is Helen, but she never neglects her studies. Shorthand is her specialty. Some day we prophesy, she will be a leader in the business world. Basketball team.

MARGARET ST. JOHN — Margaret finds friends wherever she goes, because she is the sort of girl whose friendship everyone is proud to have. Her scholastic record shows that "whatever is worth doing at all, is worth doing well." Honor roll.

MARGARET PETRUZELLA — Some day Margaret will be a queen—for don't queens always rule with "Kings"? Margaret is one of our sunniest girls, and we wish her happiness.

HAROLD PIERSON — Harold is so quiet that we don't know much to say about him. But we give him our heartiest wishes for success.

JACK QUINN—Jack has proceeded to the end of his High School career with this motto: "Take what comes, and, above all—don't worry!" Here's hoping that you'll never have to worry, Jack! Dramatic club.

Some day I'll see you and your "Robert" and "Donald" - and I hope they will slam your door as we did.

Christmas in a hospital is not the pleasure you planned - and with "Mom" there too, it's a worry - but I know you and your ability to rise above difficulties - so here's to you - and "I only pray God bless you and God keep you through the years"

Heaps of love -
Yours -

Historical Night Program Participants Garbed In Clothing Of Eras Represented

A crowd which filled the Berean Baptist church to capacity enjoyed the Historical Night program presented in the church last evening in connection with the Centennial Week celebration of the congregation. The program offered was planned, written and directed by Miss Louisa Howells.

Miss Howells read the church history which she had prepared, and at appropriate intervals actors representing characters from out of this history came "on stage", garbed in clothing of the eras which their parts depicted. The program as a whole was the result of considerable research, writing and arranging on the part of Miss Howells, and much work and searching for costumes on the part of those participating. It was arranged in eight episodes.

While the history of the Berean Baptist church dates to March 1, 1848, according to information presented by Miss Howells, the background of the Baptist persuasion in Carbondale dates to a still earlier time. Her history says:

A crowd which filled the Berean Baptist church to capacity enjoyed the Historical Night program presented in the church last evening in connection with the Centennial Week celebration of the congregation. The program offered was planned, written and directed by Miss Louisa Howells.

Miss Howells read the church history which she had prepared, and at appropriate intervals actors representing characters from out of this history came "on stage", garbed in clothing of the eras which their parts depicted. The program as a whole was the result of considerable research, writing and arranging on the part of Miss Howells, and much work and searching for costumes on the part of those participating. It was arranged in eight episodes.

While the history of the Berean Baptist church dates to March 1, 1848, according to information presented by Miss Howells, the background of the Baptist persuasion in Carbondale dates to a still earlier time. Her history says:

"After the discovery of coal in this valley, many Welsh immigrants were attracted to this region in 1830 and the years following. Among them were two brothers James and John Bowen, who, with their wives, had been members of a Baptist church in the homeland. John had been a deacon, and his brother James, a minister. Having strong faith and a zeal for Christian work, they soon devised means to promote their spiritual interests and to propagate their cherished sentiments. Meetings for prayer and preaching were held at the home of Deacon Bowen, which was located on the corner of Main street and Seventh avenue where Kelly's Drug store now stands.

"THIS CONTINUED until 1833 when the Welsh speaking people organized the First Baptist church and erected a house of worship on South Church street, where the Lutheran church is now located. This left the English speaking Baptists without a church home, and although they attended services in other churches, they felt that an English Baptist church should be organized. This feeling was crystallized into action, and on March 1, 1848, the Berean Baptist church of Carbondale came into being with seven members: namely, Rev. Daniel E Bowen, John B. Lewis, George R. Haskins, Neary Bowen, Sarah Glover, Mary J. Cramer, and Louisa L Berry."

The Rev. Daniel E. Bowen became the first pastor, and under his ministry the membership increased by 17. In the Fall of 1848 the church, with a membership of 22, united with the Abington association.

The Rev Henry Curtis became pastor in 1849 at a salary of $175 a year and continued until 1851. During his term 46 members were added. A plot of land lying between the Methodist and Catholic plots was allocated to the Baptist congregation by the Delaware and Hudson Canal company, and in 1850 a small meeting house was bought from the Methodists and transferred to the adjoining Baptist property. This became the house of worship of the group.

Construction of a new church was begun in 1857, and the church was dedicated in 1859. The cost was $5,000. This building was sold to the Father Matthew society in 1888 and for many years was known as St. Rose hall.

THE PRESENT parsonage was built in 1884, during the pastorate of the Rev. P. D. Root, and plans were begun for a new and larger church. The cornerstone was laid June 27, 1888, and on April 1, 1889 the new church was dedicated. The Rev. T. E. Jepson was pastor at the time.

In 1898 the church observed its 50th anniversary, and on the 56th anniversary $3,000 was given by Andrew Carnegie and E. E. Hendrick for the purchase of an organ. A chapel organ was presented to the Sunday school by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Avery and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nye, and a portable organ was given to the primary department by Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Morgan.

Miss Howells traced the organization of Mission and other societies in the church and gave a list of pastors who have served down through the years, to the present pastorate of the Rev. C. Gordon Stone

The address of welcome last night was given by Alfred P. Wells, general chairman of the Centennial committee. Miss Augusta Curtis led in prayer.

THOSE WHO took part in the program were: Mrs. Margaret Ransom, Mrs. Rachel Jones, Mrs. Esther Verrill, Edwin Booth, Jack Edwards, John Hancock, Evans Coles, Albert Estabrook, Arthur Lewsley, Evan Griffiths, H. L. Snow, Emmons L. Peck, Oswald Evans, Patsy Shoppy, Norma Vail, Norma Chapman, Barbara James, Joan Ogazolly, Nancy Owens, George Andrews, Jack Wivell, Charles Bowman, Mrs. Alice Hobart, Florence Bateman, Mrs. Gertrude Nicholson, Mrs. Hattie Jones, Mrs. Florence Mitchell, Mrs. Annie Acker, Mrs. Alice Burdick, Mrs. Alyce Stephens, Mrs. Frances Burdick, Mrs. Ida Andrews, Mrs. George Miller, Mrs. Jessie Rogers, Mrs. Grace Moon, Mrs. Eleanor Williams, Miriam Marr, Alyce Ann Swartz.

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Stone.

Those who assisted as ushers were: Lavinia Allen, chairman, Catherine Pierson, Helen Powell, Rebecca Burdick, Betty Hauenstein, Lois Marr, Aline Nicholson, Nancy Morcum, Maxine Carter and Gladys Jones. Exhibits were in charge of Mildred Stone and Pearl Jones.

The Committee in charge was made up of Miss Howells, Edith Gardner and Oswald Evans, co-chairmen; Rachel Jones, Doris Barrows, Lois Edwards, Evan Coles, Emmons Peck, Robert Evans, Donald Coles and David Evans.

For You,
"Mom's" NIECE,
at Christmas

Christmas 1961

Your Aunt Maggie loved this silver set and was proud to use it. It was a gift to her from Pop almost 60 years ago (maybe longer ago).

I'm sure she is happy to have it find a home in the Homestead where she was born and married.

When I had it resilvered I had you in mind.

It is fitting that now as you preside in the Homestead, you will use it. It comes to you with my deep affection.

Eleanor

It means a lot to have a ~~niece~~ cousin
Who's sweet in every way,
And with this special Christmas card
That comes with love today
Are special wishes for you, too,
That life may always bring
Throughout each day the happiest
And best of everything.

Merry Christmas Happy New Year

from your cousin Eleanor as messenger from your
"Aunt Maggie"

June 23, 1966

Dear Eleanor and Joey,

Well - at last I'm really writing to you.

All of my aches and pains are better and I feel like living again. I went to the Chiropractor for my shoulder - I had Bursitis - three treatments fixed me up fine.

It has been extremely hot today - 82° in the shade.

I just had a phone call from Russell - in California - that he just received his orders and he will be home on July 2 and after his leave he will be stationed at Bainbridge, Maryland - possibly for a year. He laughed and said there is only one thing - it is a "wave" Recruiting station so for a change he'll be seeing girls. He'll be home about two weeks. How can we be so lucky to have him stationed so close to home. Maybe my little prayers have been answered, I am very grateful and thankful.

I hope your sorrow, of losing Sarah, has eased a little by now - I know you will always feel the great loss of such a friendship.

Bob Called a Couple of nights ago, he is busy working and going to summer school and getting ready to go to France - passport - vaccination - inoculations - etc.

Leon and Bob are Coming home for the July 4th weekend to be here when Russ is home - we'll have all three boys home at one time. If you come down around the 6-7-8th you'll see Russ also because he will have about two weeks at home.

Louise was here today on her way home from Carbondale. Elizabeth comes home the first of next week. Margaret is planning on going to Bermuda later on.

Not Many golfers tonight - its too hot, I imagine most people are going swimming - I think even I would enjoy that tonight.

Walter has been busy cutting grass at both courses, it has been growing madly but now it is letting up a bit becouse it is begining to get dry.

I am going to cut Nippers nose off in back of his ears if he doesn't stop breaking off my Tuberous Begonias - he has broken three stems off so far, they are just beginning to blossom so he better watch out!!!!

I talked with Margaret Mac M. to wish her a Happy Birthday - she said that she is pretty good. She is just as "positive" as ever - always knows the right answer

Well I guess thats all I Can write about - all we do is "golf - eat - & sleep", so not much to write about.
We're looking forward to seeing you soon

Love,
Mom. I thot I was writing to the boys. how stupid of me
Helen

"Squirrel Academy"

The grade school that HLRP attended (nicknamed "Squirrel Academy" by HLRP) was located on Route 106 just above the Reservoir on the South side of the road. It was described by HLRP on April 8, 1977 as "the coldest place in Lackawanna County"--the reason being that the heating systems were, in effect, useless. Initially there was an asbestos-lined iron furnace with a tin cover in one corner--the heat went right up to the roof and did not heat the lower part of the room. "Then they took that out and put in a pipeless furnace. To keep the students from getting burned, they put a pipe on it and the heat all went up to the roof."

HLRP attended "Squirrel Academy" from 1919 to 1925 (the year she went "down town" to Roosevelt School, Salem Avenue, Carbondale, Pa.) HLRP attended "Squirrel Academy" from first grade through seventh grade; having done first and second in a single year.

Some of the teachers who taught in "Squirrel Academy" are:

1. Florence Russell Lowry (sister of Angus and Kenneth Russell)

2. Hortense Clune (HLRP's first grade teacher)

3. Frank Lavin (brother of Katherine and Mildred Lavin)

4. Gertrude Finnegan

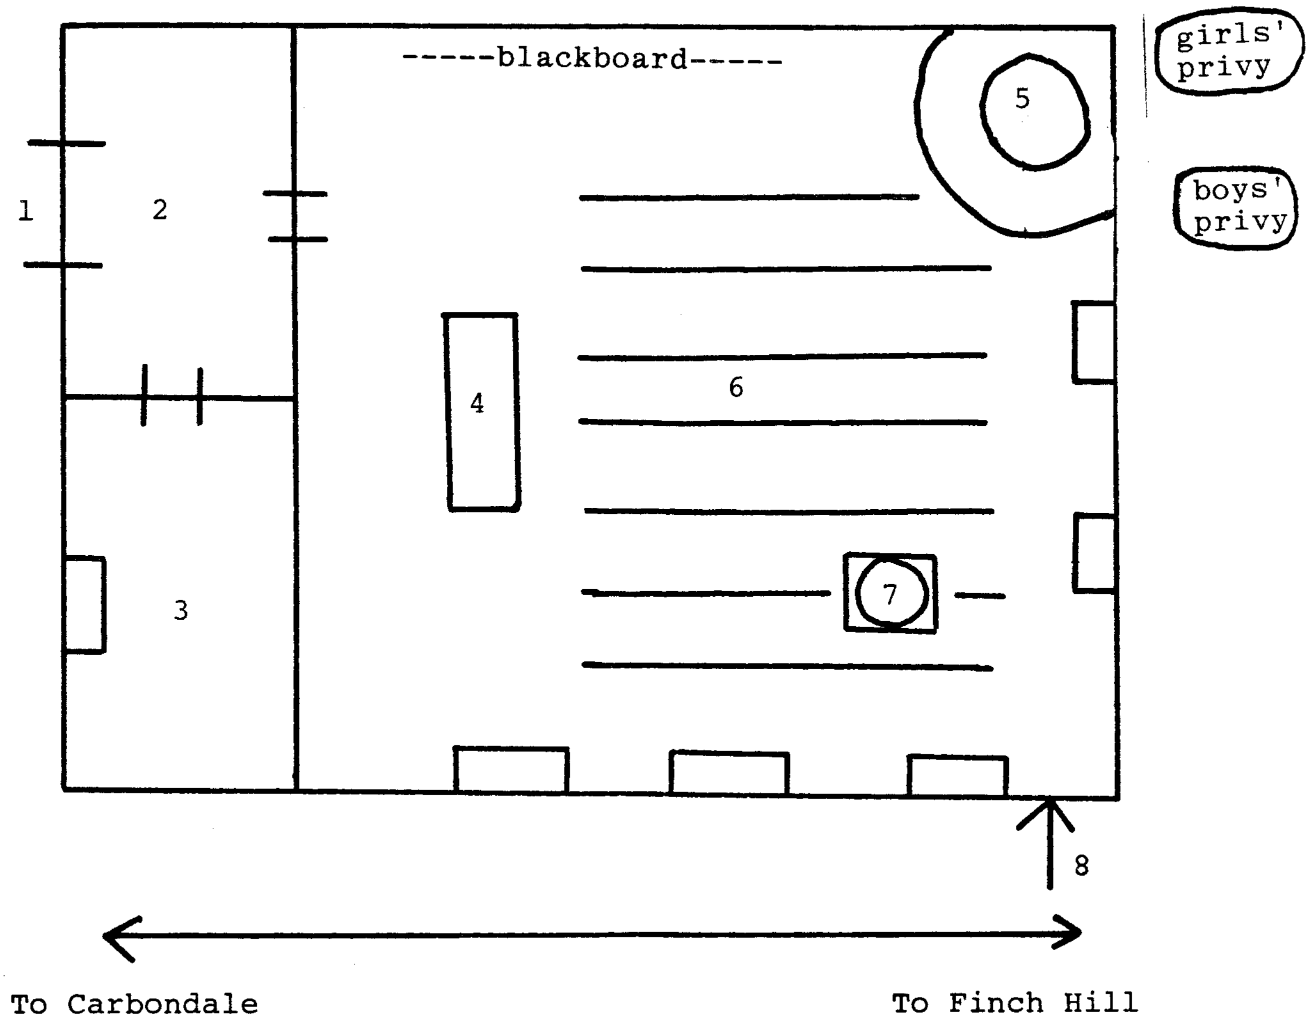

One teacher taught all seven grades; there were usually 25-30 students in the whole school; some of the families whose children attended "Squirrel Academy" are:

1. Russell
2. Rodzilski
3. Trotter
4. Rehkop
5. Schust
6. Kutch
7. Cosklo
8. Williams
9. Samson
10. Berdine
11. Wilbur

At one point there used to be eight grades in the one room; the school was used up to the early 40s.

Another early school in Fell Township was located across from the house in which Hendrickson's are currently living on Route 106 (near The Homestead). HLRP: "I feel sure that Pop went there... Margaret Russell MacMillan taught there."

On May 21, 1977 Donald Walter Powell and Silas Robert Powell located the foundation of "Squirrel Academy" (on the South side of Route 106 just above the West end of the Reservoir located at the intersection of Route 106 and the Crystal Lake Road). On the basis of Helen L. Russell Powell's recollections of "Squirrel Academy" (articulated in The Club Room of The Homestead on 5/21/77), SRP set down the floor plan given below:

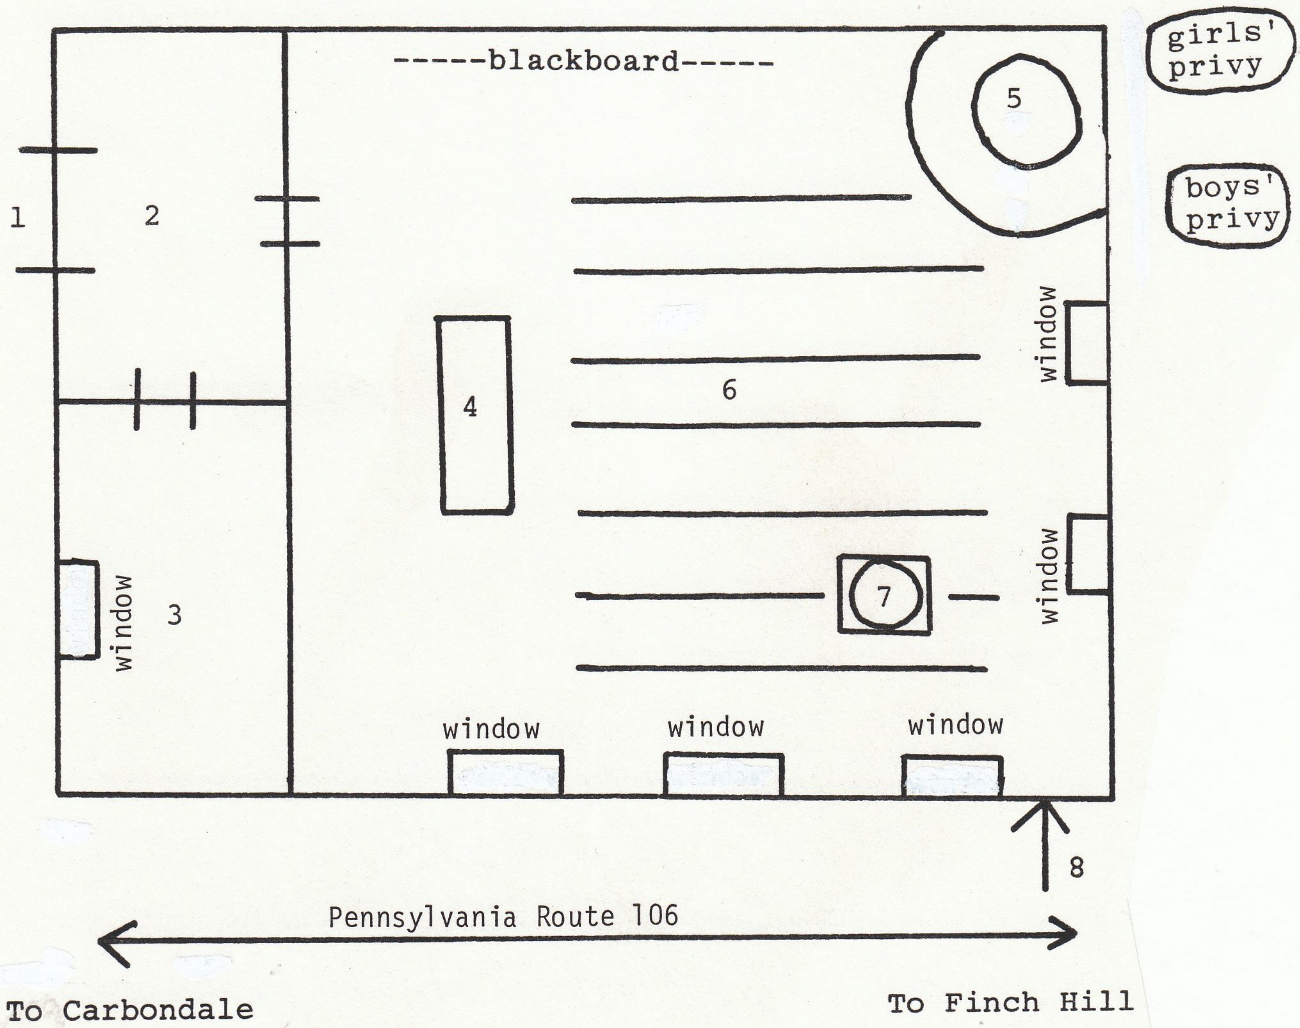

1. entrance; double doors; porch and 4-6 steps
2. entrance hall
3. cloak room
4. teacher's desk
5. jacket (coal) stove; asbestos-lined tin outer covering
6. 6-7 rows of desks
7. pipeless furnace (used coal)
8. cellar door (foundation only under main class-room and not under entrance hall and cloak room)

SQUIRREL ACADEMY

On May 21, 1977, Donald Walter Powell and Silas Robert Powell located the foundation of "Squirrel Academy" (on the south side of Pennsylvania Route 106, just above the west end of the reservoir located at the intersection of Pennsylvania Route 106 and the Crystal Lake Road).

On the basis of Helen L. (Russell) Powell's recollections of this school, articulated in The Club Room of The Homestead on May 21, 1977, Silas Robert Powell set down the floor plan given below. The foundation of this building building measures approximately 24 feet X 36 feet (foundation only under main classroom, not under entrance hall and cloak room).

1. entrance; double doors; porch and 4-6 steps
2. entrance hall
3. cloak room
4. teacher's desk
5. jacket (coal) stove; asbestos-lined tin outer covering
6. 6-7 rows of desks
7. pipeless furnace (used coal)
8. cellar door

DWP took several photographs of the site on 5/21/77; SRP determined that the foundation measured approximately 11 yards by 8 yards; SRP gathered pieces of coal and chimney bricks that were found in the foundation; DWP identified five varieties of wild-flowers growing on the site ("trientalis borealis"--the starflower; "fragaria vesca"--the wood strawberry; "maianthemum canadense"--the wild lily-of-the-valley; "tiarella cordifolia"--the foamflower; "viola cucullata"--the marsh blue violet). HLRP recalled (5/21/77) that "there used to be lots of Trilium and Dutchman's breeches--we used to call them 'boys and girls'--and spring beauties in the woods around the school."

Mom: Is the stove in this photograph similar to or identical to one of the stoves that used to be in Squirrel Academy?

Retired educator Maurice Meagher:

School consolidation good but transporting students too far

By RICHARD MEIMAN

Maurice F. Meagher believes "education did a great service for this country, but education was superior in the past."

Meagher, an educator for 44 years, was one of the first to say "one room schools could be improved by consolidation." However, he acknowledges that present school systems have "gone overboard by transporting students too far."

How has education changed in 50 years?

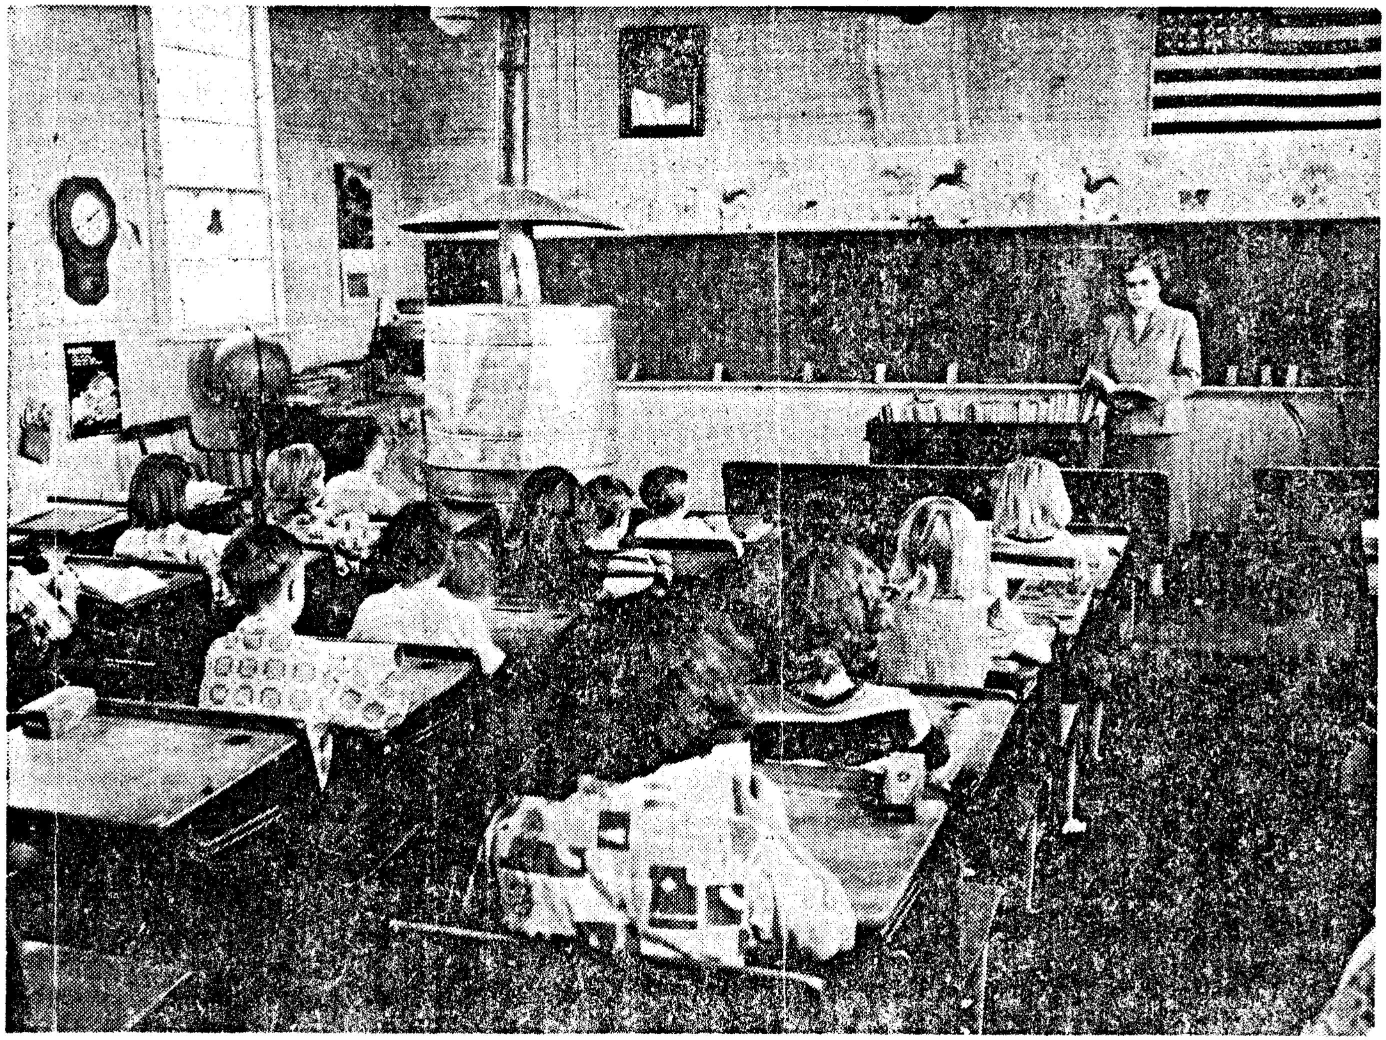

The proverbial little school houses were donated by those who owned land on the condition that schools were named after them.

Meagher was three years old when he attended the Stevenson School on the Belmont Turnpike with his two older sisters. He later became teacher at the school in 1922.

To attend high school, Meagher had to pass a common school examination. But his father wanted him to become a farmer, since it was customary for boys in those days to follow their fathers.

"Teachers were strict disciplinarians," he says with a grin on his face.

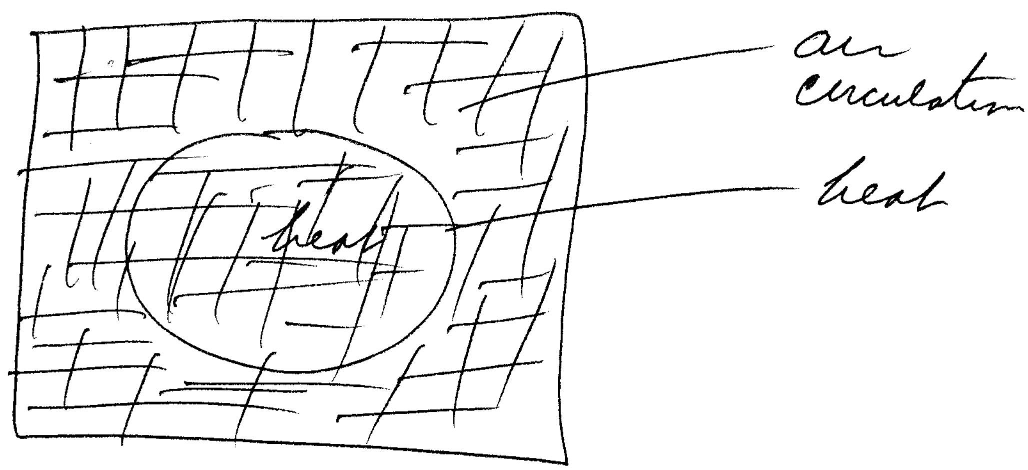

He recalls a time while teaching at the Meredith School (named after Samuel Meredith, George Washington's Secretary of the Treasury) when all the children left the room to pick up the mail. Meagher decided that one boy should get the mail, but the class did not like the idea. Meagher was apprehensive, so while shoveling coal, he decided to frighten the students by repeating the boy's name in Russian. The students were afraid that he might paddle them. So they learned to respect his authority.

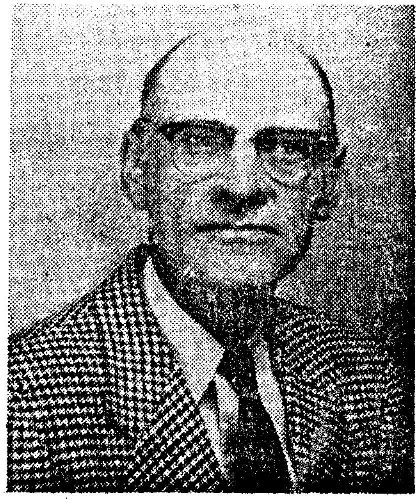

The traditional one-room school house where President Washington and the United States flag hang majestically above the blackboard, and with Mrs. Maurice Meagher the teacher.

there used to be one in the parlor at 35 Rua — just outside aunt Nettie's door — but it was ruined in the floods

Pipeless furnace — in basement

Maurice F. Meagher, Sr.

"The most influenctial person in my life was Grace S. Perham, assistant county school superintendent. She took an interest in me," Meagher says. "She advised me to go to college and then said I should be the principal of the Browndale School."

Instead of administrating, Meagher taught and the "people were very cooperative."

"Education is a privilege," he says after pausing for a moment. Meagher claims education's purpose is to make an individual a "world citizen and to make the world a better place in which to live."

Meagher attended Duke University in South Carolina but transferred to New York University because it was "too hot down there and air conditioners were not yet invented." Meagher received his Ph.D from Milton University; his dissertation was on "Administration and Supervision of the Small High School."

Meagher claims education is "fair today," but believes television distracts the student. However, Meagher agrees that "television is a very good educational instrument if it is used properly."

Meagher's last day of teaching was spent at Western Wayne High School in 1975. Nevertheless, Meagher points out, "if I had my life to live over again, I would be back to teaching."

An ex-student of Meagher, Attorney Richard Ballou remarks that Meagher's method of teaching "helped me outline and pick out all the key words needed for understanding the work." He further states that Meagher "is a super-dooper guy."

"One more word," Meagher declares. "During my teaching career I only missed three days of school."

Meagher lives in Honesdale on Park Street with his wife Margaret. He has five children and 15 grandchildren. He will be 79 September 12—but his real date of birth is the 13th—his mother did not wish the birth to be recorded on an unlucky day.

– the first furnace (not the pipeline one) was about 4 to 5' in diameter. – the outer covering was asbestos lined tin; two doors: one for ashes out and one for coal in

[inside of the outer shell was an iron furnace]

The whole furnace + covering was 4 to 5' feet tall; stove pipe out the top; no heat reflector

In 1925, HLRP went "down town" to the Roosevelt School, Salem Avenue, Carbondale, PA. A photograph of the class in the Roosevelt School that HLRP became a part of when she went "down town" in 1925 was published in the rotogravure section of The Scrantonian in mid-April, 1978. The caption on that photograph is as follows:

In 1932 HLRP, Alma Munson, Emily Thorne, Betty Brown traveled to Canada (the thousand islands). They traveled in a green Chevrolet convertible. HLRP: "We took an umbrella in the event of rain. You never got wet [in the rumble seat] as long as you had the umbrella." In the following year they all again visited Canada. HLRP: "Alma's cousin was along one year."

In 1934, HLRP, Aunt Nettie and Aunt Jennie visited the World's Fair in Chicago, IL. Three photographs taken during that trip are in The Homestead Photograph Archive.

WSP talks about his youth.
November 17, 1986

WSP took me to Par-Mor at Mount Pocono and on the way back he began talking.

On one of the back roads WSP began to look for the spot where the Powell Family (Silas, Olivia, and the children) would go for picnics. They would back the car in the woods by a stream and have a picnic. It was in the woods even now. Then it must have been pretty wild. We never found the spot but WSP looked pretty carefully.

WSP bitched and moaned about the present state of the relationship he has with HLRP and he talked a great deal about 'his courting days'.

> The I SHOULD WORRY CLUB he said was in the Dundaff Hotel. He mentioned the hotel by a specific name. He described to me where it was. He said that the Square Dancing Club (which in effect was what the club was) was a pretty select group. They didn't let just anybody in. They were mostly Protestant, and only those farmers who thought they were 'hot shots' were members. WSP mentioned by name Will Russell, and the Lees. WSP said the place was not that big, only big enough for four square dancing units (he mentioned a specific term for a unit of square dancers). He said that they used to get so hot and sweaty from dancing in there. He said that there was a kitchen in the back and they would cook food in there and while dancing they could smell the food. He said the food smelled so good.
> Seab Ross was a musician and he and three other people - WSP mentioned them all by name and specifically mentioned where they lived. Some of them - two of them - lived near where SRP now lives, at Elkdale. They were the music. That was how WSP got to the Dundaff Hotel. He knew Seab Ross.
> WSP talked a lot about Seab Ross and Eloise (?Hasbrook). WSP said he was best man at Seab's wedding, or was it the other way around, was Seab the best man at his wedding. I told him that Seab was in his (WSP's) wedding picture. Seab gave Eloise a diamond and she kept it a while and gave it back to him. She didn't want to marry him. WSP and Seab were best friends and Seab could go to Eloise's house to court her is WSP went along. Seab and Eloise and WSP and Eloise's sister, Helen, double dated. WSP said he never had any romantic attachment to Eloise's sister, but that he went along to make the foursome. WSP said he got along better with the mother of Eloise and Helen than he did with Helen. He said that because WSP worked the crossword puzzles and so did the Mother that they got along very well.

The I Should Worry Club

Dundaff Inn — Dundaff, Pa.

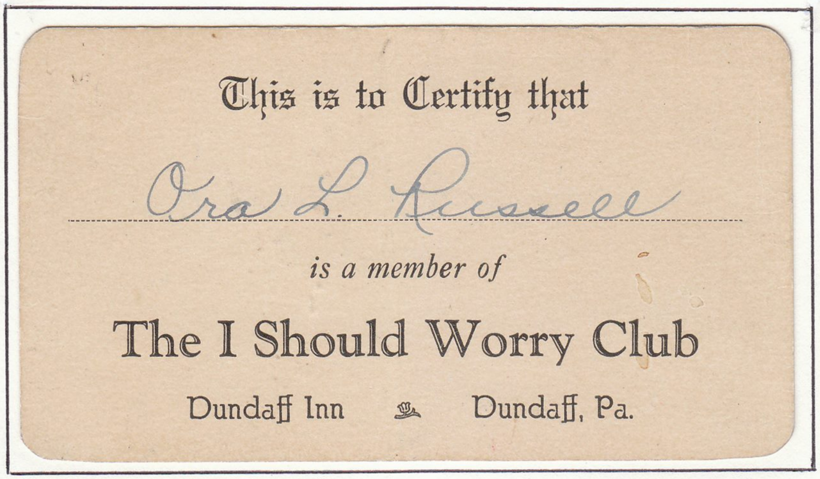

On March 26, 1977 Helen Loomis Russell Powell stated: "'The I Should Worry Club' started out as a card club that met every two weeks at the Dundaff Hotel. Then it became a dancing club."

In reply to the question: "Where did you [WSP and HLRP] meet? When? How is it you were at the same place at the same time?" Helen L. R. Powell answered (see SRP Letter #137):

"We met at the I Should Worry Club that met at Dundaff Hotel. (It was dancing.) The Wm. Russells were members and Charles Seabert Ross, Jr. came to the dance and finally played saxophone in the orchestra. He (Seabert) was a friend of Walter's so he invited him to the dance and that's how it all began."

SRP Note: Walter Silas Powell and Helen Loomis Russell were married on April 10, 1937. They lived at The Russell Homestead while the house in which Russell Powell and family are currently residing was being remodeled. That house, HLRP noted on 3/26/77, is older than The Russell Homestead. On February 22, 1938, WSP and HLRP moved down to the house in which their son, Russell, and his family are currently living. In December 1961 WSP and HLRP moved back to The Russell Homestead.

On July 2, 1977, HLRP remarked in reference to Ora E. Russell's signature on "The I Should Worry Club" card (see above): "That's Louise's writing. She was secretary at one time."

DWP notes; this page

WSP remembers that Seab's father used to give him a fifth of whiskey when he went out so that Seab wouldn't buy poison whiskey. Those were the days of prohibition.

WSP pointed out the direction of where another of his youthful amorous adventures took place.
That was with the daughter of ?
WSP was working for Si Slocum and Slocum's house he met two girls. One of them went out with and eventually married the son of Simpson, perhaps he said Cleland-Simpson. Anyway, the girl had a sister and she was big and solid and blonde (not fragile) and WSP went out with her but he never took to her. She didn't live too long. She married somebody else. Either that girl or her sister and her husband moved to Florida. WSP thinks that the girl and Simpson are still alive.

WSP made a remark about how all of the people (or almost all of the people) he and HLRP used to know are dead. He mentioned HLRP's card club specifically.

Prayer of Confession (In unison)

Eternal Father, guardian of our lives: We confess that we are children of dust, unworthy of your gracious care. Forgive our sins and raise us to new life, so that as long as we live we may serve you, until, dying, we enter the joy of your presence; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Psalm Twenty Three

The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies, thou anountest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the day's of my life, and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

The butterfly has long been depicted in Christian art as an appropriate symbol of the Resurrection and of the believer's share in Christ's victory over the grave. As an unattractive and earthbound worm, the creature enters its cocoon for a deathlike sleep. But it bursts forth from this "tomb" gloriously transformed.

Helen Russell Is Bride of Walter Powell

75 Guests Attend Saturday Wedding in Carbondale Residence

One of the loveliest of the early Spring weddings was that of Miss Helen Loomis Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Russell, Carbondale, to Walter Silas Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Silas A. Powell, West Pittston, which took place Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the 30th wedding anniversary of the bride's parents.

The ceremony was performed in the spacious living-room of the Russell homestead, by the Rev. George Ellin, pastor of the Berean Baptist Church, Carbondale, before a mantle arrangement of palms and Talisman roses by Wade. Preceding and during the ceremony, Mrs. William Rundel gave a piano recital.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiantly lovely in a princess gown of white duchess satin. Her illusion veil was of finger-tip length, and she carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss M. Louise Russell was her sister's maid of honor, wearing an attractive gown of aquamarine lace. She carried a shower bouquet of Talisman roses. Seabert Ross, this city, was Mr. Powell's best man.

A reception for the 75 wedding guests followed the ceremony at which the bridal party was assisted in receiving by the parents of the bride and bridegroom. Ammerman catered. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Powell left for a short wedding trip and upon their return they will reside at the Russell homestead, Carbondale. For traveling, the bride wore a tailored suit of brown mannish twill with hat and accessories combining darker brown and corn colors.

The bride was graduated from Wyoming Seminary, and the bridegroom is a graduate of the Wharton School of Finance.

The following musical selections were performed on the piano by Mrs. William Rundel at the wedding of HLR and WSP:

1. To a Wild Rose of MacDonald
2. I Love You Truly of Carri Jacobs Bond
3. Wedding Music from Lohengrin of Wagner
4. The Wedding March from A Midsummer Night's Dream of Mendelssohn
5. Always of Irving Berlin
6. Ah Sweet Mystery of Life of Victor Herbert
7. Let the Rest of the World Go By
